Truman Moves to Curb Strikes, Asks Law

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP) — President Truman today set up fact-finding boards to deal with the General Motors strike and threatened steel walkout, and asked Congress for permanent machinery to handle labor disputes in "important nationwide industries."

The President appealed publicly for 225,000 CIO-United Automobile Workers to return to their jobs at General Motors and urged the approximate 700,000 who might be involved in a steel strike to remain at work.

Mr. Truman acted in a special message, fast on the heels of the labor-management conference which could not agree upon a fact-finding recommendation.

He proposed:

A law for setting up machinery for naming fact-finding boards to prevent work stoppages in important, nation-wide labor disputes.

A ban on strikes or lockouts for at least 30 days—five after certification of a dispute by the Secretary of Labor, 20 for the fact-finding board to deliberate and five more.

The President cited such widespread industries as steel, automobile, aviation, mining, oil, utilities and communications as those to which the act should apply.

This list, however, was not conclusive, although Mr. Truman said the legislation should not cover small and local labor troubles.

"While this board will not have the statutory powers which I hope the Congress will soon authorize," Mr. Truman said, "I am sure that the American people will expect the employer and the employes to co-operate with the board as fully as if appropriate legislation had already been passed.

"In industrial disputes in such industries, where collective bargaining has broken down, in recommend:

"Upon certification by the secretary of labor to the effect that a dispute continues despite his efforts, and that a stoppage of work in the affected industry would vitally affect the public interest, the President, or his duly authorized agent, should be empowered to appoint, within five days thereafter, a fact-finding board similar to the emergency board provided for under the railway labor act.

"I recommend that during these five days after the secretary of labor has made the above certificate it be unlawful to call a strike or lockout, or to make any change in rates of pay, hours, or working conditions, or in the established practices in effect prior to the time the dispute arose.

"The board should be composed of three or more outstanding citizens, and should be directed to make a thorough investigation of all the facts which it deems relevant in the controversy.

"It should make its report within twenty days, unless the date is extended by agreement of the parties with the approval of the President. The report should include a finding of the facts and such recommendations as the board deems appropriate.

"While the fact-finding board is deliberating and for five days thereafter it should be made unlawful to call a strike or lockout, or to make any change in rates of pay, hours, working conditions or established practices, except by agreement.

"The parties would not be legally bound to accept the findings or follow the recommendations of the fact-finding board, but the general public would know all the facts."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (INS) —William L. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor said today the AFL "cannot approve" President Truman's recommendations to Congress on legislation to end industrial strife.

Short Failed to Heed Warning, Says Miles

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—The reply Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short made from Hawaii on Nov. 28, 1941, to a war warning message from Washington was "totally inadequate," Maj. Gen. Sherman A. Miles testified today before the Senate-House group investigating Pearl Harbor.

Evidence was cited by Rep. Clark (D.) of North Carolina that on Nov. 27 Gen. Marshall warned Short "hostile action is possible at any moment" and to take reconnaissance and such other measures "as you deem neecssary."

Filed as a reply was word from Short to Marshall the next day that the Hawaiian department was "alerted to prevent sabotage."

"Was that in any way responsive?" asked Clark.

Miles, who was head of Army intelligence at the time of Pearl Harbor, demurred. He said he would like that question to be directed to officers who saw the reply. He named these as Wa Sec'y. Stimson, Gen. Marshall and the chief of the war plans division, Gen. Leonard T. Gerow.

But Clark persisted, saying he wanted Miles' opinion as a military man of long experience.

"Very well, sir," replied Miles. "My opinion is that that message was a totally inadequate reply to the message it purported to reply to."

Clark noted that messages similar to the one sent to Hawaii were dispatched at the same time to other overseas stations. He directed attention to a reply from Gen. McArthur in the Philippines that reconnaissance had been extended and ground forces put in a state of readiness for defense.

Clark asked if the Japanese success in the Dec. 7, 1941, raid depended largely on surprise.

Miles said the intelligence officers believed that for the Japs to attack the Hawaiian fortress and the fleet that was there, risking ships they could not replace, their chances of success would rest in surprise—in "finding the fortress unprepared and unalerted."

He said the general staff "constantly thought of the element of surprise in connection with Hawaii."

"We never lost sight of the fact that Japan, if it engaged in war with us, probably would attack Hawaii," Miles declared.

Hitler's Poison Gas Plot Against Czechs Detailed

By PIERRE J. HUSS

NUERNBERG, Dec 3 (INS)—A top-secret Nazi document disclosing that Adolf Hitler planned to accomplish the rape of Czechoslovakia by use of poison gas was laid before the Allied War Crimes Tribunal today.

Showing that invasion of the helpless country was planned long before the sham of Munich, the document specified that if the Czechs resisted, "Gas Projectiles" be fired after circulation of reports that Czech troops had first resorted to poison gas.

Under the heading "List of international law incidents for the purpose of propaganda handling" the blue print exposed the pattern of alibis woven by Propaganda Minister Goebbels, in advance of planned events.

It told exactly what violations of the Geneva convention were contemplated, how each was treated under The Hague laws, and what steps the propaganda machine should follow in each case.

U. S. Asst. Prosecutor Sidney Alderman said copies of the document revealed that the conspiracy to invade Czechoslovakia had reached the practical planning stage by mid-April of 1938.

Nazis Hate Yanks, Hint Resistance

FRANKFURT, Dec. 3 (AP)—German resentment against American occupation methods is developing into bitter hatred which is giving rise to increasing talk of resistance, according to a survey by U. S. intelligence officers.

Outstanding source of resentment, the survey found, is the conviction the American Military Administration is suffering from a lack of policy which the Germans hold responsible for injustice and confusion.

This conviction, it was said, is shared by many of the clergy who profess pro-Allied sympathies.

The investigators found the Germans feel they have suffered enough, whatever their crimes.

"Whatever material losses were inflicted on other countries, Germany has lost more," is the way the average German seems to feel, the report said.

It pictured Germany as a land of groaners, and quoted one civil servant as saying, "The only thing Germans would be able really to agree on would be some form of resistance."

Auto Union To Consider Truman Plea

DETROIT, Dec. 3 (AP)—United Automobile Workers Union will call a conference of General Motors workers next Saturday to decide whether they will heed a request by President Truman to end their wage strike against the corporation, R. J. Thomas UAW-CIO president, said today.

Thomas told a press conference that the decision for such a conference was made by the union's strike strategy committee

"The workers themselves will be asked to deside on the President's request," Thomas said. He pointed out that under the union's constitution, votes by local unions are required before a strike can be ended.

Referring to C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, Thomas declared:

"Mr. Wilson has had an opportunity to talk to the President. We have not had that opportunity, and I wonder if the President knows that (1) General Motors has not co-operated on collective bargaining; (2) that we have tried conciliation and mediation; and (3) that we have offered arbitration.

"We wonder if President Truman knows these things. We think he should know them before he sets up his fact-finding committee."

Thomas disclosed that a letter sent under his name Saturday accepting General Motors' offer to reopen its parts plants to supply competitors was written by his publicity department while he was on a train en route here from Washington and that "the signature must have been rubber-stamped."

He did not disclaim support of the stand taken in the letter, however.

2 New Storms Heading for N. E.

While work of clearing debris caused by the last storm got under way two new disturbances were reported heading toward New England. One storm, still in the formative stage, is reported on the southwest coast of Louisiana and moving northeast toward Georgia and North Carolina.

The other, headed this way from the Georgian bay area of Canada, east of Lake Huron, is bringing southwest to west winds with light sleet and freezing rain.

Sobbing Dad Asks Pupils Hunt Baby

Every child in the public and parochial schools of Chelsea was asked today to join the search for 6-month-old Ronald Carlan, the black-haired baby who was kidnaped from his carriage opposite his home in Arlington st., Wednesday. The father and mother, MM 3c James J. Carlan and Rose Carlan, went to the Williams School this morning to make a personal appeal, for the baby was stolen within a few yards of that building.

Headmaster Eugene A. Wright introduced the parents. Mrs. Carlan wanted speak but was so overwrought she choked up. Her husband told the children:

"My little son, whom I have never seen, is missing. If you know anything which would help us find him please tell the police. We need your help. We know you will do all possible to help us."

Carlan achieved some composure at the school but afterward the strain of sleepless nights and harrowing days took its toll of him. Tears coursed down his cheeks and his hands shook. "The whole thing is driving me crazy," he sobbed. "Who would ever think it could happen?"

It was the first time the father had broken down. Until today he managed to play the role of comforter to his grieving wife, but it was she, this morning, who summoned the strength to urge faith and courage in him.

Supt. of Schools J. Frank Herlihy directed teachers in all the public schools to ask the children to be alert in the search for Ronald Carlan. Police Chief Charles M. Finn, at whose instigation it was done, made the same request of parochial school authorities.

Mrs. Carlan asked police to check gypsy bands and settlements throughout the country. Uppermost in her mind now is the possibility that her infant was kidnaped by one of the nomadic groups and perhaps "passed on from hand to hand," as she bitterly put it.

Headmaster Wright of the Williams school today suggested to police they question a boy whose name they did not disclose. He was described only as a "type who could have done it."

Police Chief Finn revealed today the kidnaping of Ronald Carlan has engendered sympathy throughout the country for the parents. Men and women in states far removed from Massachusetts have even made telephone calls to ask what progress has been made in the kidnaper search.

Maine Boy, 14, Fatally Stabs Sister, 12

BANGOR, Me., Dec. 3 (AP)—Teresa Varney, 12, was found dead in her Garland st. home today. Police said Francis S. Varney, 14, her brother, "admitted stabbing his sister."

No charge, as yet, has been placed against the boy.

The girl was stabbed near the heart, with a kitchen knife. No reason had been advanced for the stabbing, police said.

Francis and Teresa were the children of Mrs. Esther Varney, a laundry woman.

The stabbing occurred when Teresa and two younger brothers, Richard, 8, and Daniel, 9, returned home at noon from school.

A neighbor found the girl on a couch. Her glasses and a flashlight were on the floor.

Waltham Vet Cheerful As He Awaits Blindness

By ALICE BISSELL

Except for a pair of dark glasses, a 29-year-old Waltham coastguardman today seemed hardly changed since he joined the service two years ago. Wallace H. Brown, 29, RM 2c, of Dale st., Waltham, wore a great big smile as he received his discharge at Constitution Base, and said he was going home to his wife, Helen, and return to his old job the first of the year.

Finally he did add he would probably be blind for life.

"I can see now, but the doctors say that sooner or later, maybe two months, maybe two years, I will probably lose my sight, and then have my eyes removed," he said.

Mrs. Brown

There are only 25 cases in medical records of essential progressive atrophy of both eyes, and after treatment since July in the best hospitals under the best eye specialists, it was decided nothing more could be done for Brown.

"They tell me the iris of the eye is like a piece of glass," he said. "When once shattered, it can never be repaired. Eventually the whole pupil turns to 'stone,' and the eye must be removed."

Brown, radioman aboard the "Lucky 170," one of the oldest LST's in the service, fought through the New Guinea and Philippines campaigns, and one night at Luzon as they were unloading on the beach, a nearby ammunition dump blew up.

The flash from the explosion caused the injury to his eyes. He spent a month on a hospital ship there, before being flown home to Bainbridge Naval Hospital in Maryland.

"I really consider myself fortunate," he said. "I still think there is hope for me, and I have learned a lot."

"If I hadn't been in hospitals, I would never have realized how many were wounded in this war. It si terrible. One of my friends, only 17, had his eyes operated on.

"The bandages were off and his eyes staring, and the kid kept saying, 'doc, take off the bandages,' and finally the doctor told him they were off already, but that the operation was unsuccessful.

"We must always remember people like that," Brown said.

Union Marches On State House

Protesting the use of shipping for commercial trade while American soldiers are held up overseas awaiting transportation home, more than 150 members of the National Maritime Union (CIO) today marched to the State House to ask the Governor to join with them in demanding more ships for troops.

The march was part of a nationwide demonstration by the NMU which called a 24-hour work stoppage on all vessels, not engaged in military work.

The port of Boston was not affected by the stoppage. The only ships here today being transports, tankers, and colliers, all exempted by NMU leaders.

In the absence of Gov. Tobin the men were met by his secretary, Thomas McCusker.

Robert Mills, NMU port agent and leader of the group, declared that American soldiers are going to pieces waiting for transportation home.

He said that 350 ships are tied up in U. S. shipyards, each capable of carrying from 350 to 500 men. Less than 10 days would be needed to recondition these vessels, Mills said.

He asked that the Governor appeal to President Truman for release of more shipping.

The group then moved to the Parkman Bandstand on Boston Common whereJoseph Salerno, president of the state CIO, other union leaders and returned veterans spoke on the urgency of putting more ships back in service.

24-Hr. Strike Paralyzes U. S. Ships

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Some 90,000 members of the CIO National Maritime Union throughout the nation left their jobs today in a 24-hour work stoppage that tied up loading and sailing of hundreds of ships and halted repairs on others.

The walkout was called to support the union's contention that return of overseas veterans was being delayed because some ships it claimed were suitable to carry soldiers were being used for commercial purposes.

At Boston ships were in the exempt category.

Siy thousand men left their jobs at New York, tying up 120 ships. Across the Hudson river at Jersey City, N. J., 20 ships were tied up. Operations in the port of Philadelphia were virtually at a standstill.

At New Orleans 55 ships were tied up and 35 were affected at Mobile. At Houston 2000 workers were idle.

The Waterfront Employers' Ass'n at San Ffancisco estimated 50 West Coast ships would be affected with 40,000 workers involved. The NMU said 32 ships, with about 1200 men would be affected in the Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor.

Pickets Phone To President

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (INS)—The National Maritime Union resorted to the tactic of flooding the White House with telephone calls today as merchant seamen stopped work in a 24-hour strike against vessels not engaged in troop transport.

Union members were instructed to place person-to-person long distance calls to President Truman to "speed the GI's home."

As the President was unavailable to such callers personally, the calls were uncompleted, the money returned and the White House switchboards were jammed all morning.

Seaway Seen Loss to N. E.

New England's share of the cost in the proposed $700,000,000 St. Lawrence Seaway would be $70,000,000 and this region would lose economically, B. S. Voorhees, assistant vice-president of the New York Central Railroad, declared today.

Speaking at a meeting of the St. Lawrence Project Conference, which opposes the seaway, Voorhees said the Mid-west and Canada are the one who would benefit by the proposed waterway from Montreal to Duluth, Minn.

He told more than 100 New England commercial, industrial, shipping and business representatives at the Statler, that U. S. ships are not built to navigate in a 27-foot channel such as is proposed.

He also said that as a military route it would be of little value.

British Bride's Ocean Hop Bares Triangle

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (INS)—The Chicago Herald-American today disclosed a wartime love triangle as Jean Pauline Gloor Carbone, a 19-year-old English war bride, was found in the Dubuque, Ia., home of Capt. Darrell Beschen, following a nation-wide search instituted by her husband, Lt. Harold Carbone.

Jean, the Herald-American said, is expecting a baby in January, and admitted Beschen is the father.

The girl, tiny and brunette, whose father is a famous London embroidery designer, flew the Atlantic last week, ostensibly to join her husband, a student at Rochester (N. Y.) University.

Instead, she went from Chicago to Dubuque, where Capt. Beschen lives with his widowed mother and sister.

Lt. Carbone, who had sent his bride the money for the trip, didn't know she was in the United States until he saw a newspaper picture of her taken at the Chicago Airport. When Jean failed to arrive in Rochester, he asked the Red Cross to investigate.

Finally found in the Beschen home, Jean in a telephone interviwe with the Herald-American said:

"I simply have not had the courage to tell Harold the truth. "I will seek a legal separation as soon as possible."

Later she said:

"I have just talked to my husband over the phone, and I hope everything can be straightened out."

Capt. Beschen, who is 25, a Mustang fighter pilot and wearer of the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal, and the Eto ribbon, told the Herald-American:

"Jean is a wonderful girl. "I love her and will marry her as soon as possible.'

The Herald-American quoted Carbone as saying:

"I talked on the 'phone with my wife. She caid she wanted a divorce. "If anyone gets a divorce, I'll get it.'

Vets Gripe At Jobs Done For WACs

More than 7000 GI's returned home today aboard the Army transport West Point, many of them with fire in their eyes because they had to wait on table and clean the staterooms of a contingent of 307 WACs.

The boys griped loud and long at Commonwealth Pier over "doing women's work" in scrubbing up after the WACs. They also charged the WACs and officers on board got eggs and bacon for breakfast while they ate beans. They didn't like serving turkey and ice cream to the same group when they had to sit down the same day to spam.

On board was T-5 Helen I. Palsick, 22, of Charles st., Quincy, who joined up so she could follow her husband, Sgt. Edmund Palsick, 25, to Europe. She located her husband by telephone at Cherbourg on Dec. 16, 1944, and the couple had a Christmas Eve reunion in Paris. He came home last week.

The West Point brought in a total of 7746, including 71 civilians, the 307 WACs and 346 Army nurses.

Also arriving today was the S. S. Lincoln Victory, which debarked 1955 men at the Army Base, including re-enlistees and a few USO entertainers.

Tom Foran, Massachusetts ave., Arlington, and his beautiful blonde daughters, Mary and Bernice, sang and danced most of the way home, and another USO favorite, "Bozo" Snyder, furnished the comedy.

2 Pretty Girl Stowaways Land Here

Two pretty British stowaways, a blonde and a brunette, both 20, arrived here today aboard the S.S. Raymond Clapper to the accompaniment of a lot of mysterious head-shakings by 12 GI's who made the voyage.

The girls, named Vicki Scott and Mary Elizabeth Curtis, were discovered two days ago after the ship had been eight days out of Birkenhead, England, and were happy and well fed. A girl's purse found by a ship's officer in a passageway brought search of the ship and the two girls were found blanketed down in No. 5 hold.

"We don't know how they ever got on board or who was feeding them those eight days," one GI said solemnly. "I did hear they have relatives somewhere in New York State, either in Watertown or Middletown. It sure is funny."

Fuller's Counsel Quits, Curley Trial Continues

By STEPHEN B. O'LEARY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—Resumption of the trial of Cong. James M. Curley and four others charged with violating the mail fraud statutes was highlighted today by withdrawal of James Laughlin, counsel for James G. Fuller, a defendant. He was replaced by T. Emmett McKenzie, Washington attorney. Judge James M. Proctor said he would entertain no motions for delay as a result of the change.

Laughlin said later Fuller had requested his withdrawal since the attorney was so tied up with other cases that he did not have sufficient time to spend with his client. Fuller, serving in Atlanta on charges of sending fraudulent checks through the mails, read documents at his quarters in the jail here for the duration of the trial, and told Laughlin he wanted an attorney who could visit him there.

Only morning session witness was Frank M. Gifford, Worcester, Mass., contractor, whose direct examination and cross-examination were completed by noon.

Under cross-examination by Atty. William E. Leahy, counsel for Curley, the witness agreed that, although nothing came of two deals which Engineers' Group, Inc., tried to arrange for him, his relations with Fuller during the negotiations were friendly and he felt the defendant had done everything possible to obtain the contracts.

He also agreed the question of priorities had interfered with successful conclusion of the contract for an Alexandria, Va., housing project and that he had withdrawn from the agreement for that reason. He testified last week that a check for $3100 he had received as a refund of his deposit had bounced when he deposited it in his bank in February, 1942.

He also agreed he had been refunded $2500 when priorities prevented successful conclusion of a contract to build at 10-story office building in Washington in October, 1941, and that he had lost nothing on the deal.

Cross-examined by William Gallagher, counsel for Donald Wakefield Smith, former NLRB member, one of the defendants whose signature was on the bad check, Gifford testified that this was the only time he saw Smith's name in his dealing with the group. The check was dated Jan. 15, 1942.

He admitted he learned later that Smith had withdrawn from the group in February, 1942. He said he did not know, though, that someone else had been authorized to sign checks for the Engineers' group as the result of Smith's withdrawal.

Under questioning by Atty. William E. Leahy, counsel for Curley, Gifford testified he had been introduced to Desmond by one James Collins, a sub-contractor, with whom his firm had done business.

The meeting occured in Desmond's office in August, 1941.

Hub Mother Greets Leyte Ranger Hero

The proudest and surely the happiest woman in Boston today was Mrs. Elizabeth O'Connell, a widow of Isabella st., South End, who had the reunion that she had awaited so patiently for more than two years.

She answered the doorbell to be swooped into the arms of one of two hero-sons, Lt. William J. O'Connell, 33, who led one of the two squads of Rangers who opened the gates in the daring raid that freed Americans from the dread Cabantuan prison camp in Luzon.

Lt. O'Connell

Lt. O'Connell, the first Massachusetts man to reach the Philippines on Gen. MacArthur's promised "return," had only a brief reunion. He had to leave for Ft. Devens almost at once, but he is getting terminal leave and will be back home to stay within a few days.

He landed on Leyte with a small group of Rangers three days before the main invasion.

Awaiting his return almost as anxiously as Mrs. O'Connell was Bill's brother, David, who served with Gen. Patton's Third Army on the European front and who was discharged last summer.

"I'm feeling fine and hope to see some of the nurses and others our unit rescued, just as soon as I come home for good," Lt. O'Connell said.

"I landed on U. S. soil again at Seattle, Wash., on Thanksgiving Day, but it took quite a while to get back east. After a little more doctoring I ought to be as good as new again."

He has been in the Army nearly five years, the last two years in the Pacific drive that carried all the way across the Pacific to victory.

He was a baseball and football star at Charlestown High School and was employed in a downtown Boston store before his enlistment.

Bride's Tears Free New Hubby

Judge Joseph Riley of Municipal court stopped the tears of a 90-pound bride of six days today after court officers failed, thereby giving a fresh start to the romance of Alfred Gregory, 22, former merchant mariner of Charlotte, N. C.

The bride, the former Marie Marratto, 21, of Chelsea, burst into sobs when Gregory, whom she wed last Wednesday, was found guilty of carrying a loaded revolver and on three counts of larceny of radios, a flashlight and a camera.

A sentence of 14 months only added to the din, but the little bride dried her tears when Judge Riley suspended sentence, passed out probation for three years and told the couple they could continue theier honeymoon.

Gregory was trapped in a Casenove st., South End, apartment by Sgt. Michael Stapleton of police headquarters.

Dies by Own Gun

SOUTH WORTHINGTON, Dec. 3 (INS)—Walter T. Partytka, 35, Holyoke bartender, was killed today accidently today while trying to kill a fox. Police said apparently Partytka wounded the fox and struck the animal with the butt end of his rifle. The gun discharged.

Argentine Nazis Said to Plan Putsch

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 3 (AP)—The English language newspapers Standard today quoted Emilio Troise, president of the Committee Against Racialism and Anti-Semitism, as saying that Nazi elements in Argentina would attempt in a few days "a putsch similar to the firing of the Reichstag in Germany."

Deer Season On

Those fellows with bows and arrows tramping through the snow-covered woodland of Massachusetts today are no Indians on the warpath, they are hunters out to get their quota of one deer apiece.

The Bay State deer hunting season opned today at 6:30 a. m. and continues until 5 p. m. Saturday. Only bows and arrows and shotguns of not more than 10-guage are allowed. This year Dukes and Norfolk counties are closed.

Divorce Recalls Hub Kidnap Case

For the second time in 10 years, Mrs. Josephine Damore Moraes of Salem st., North End, the mother of a kidnap-murder victim which held the headlines 16 years ago, was granted divorce today on grounds of cruelty by Suffolk Probate Judge Frederick J. Dillon.

Mrs. Moraes was freed from Antonio Moraes, whom she wed in July, 1944. Moraes did not contest.

She divorced Santo Damore in the same court in 1936. The latter was father of Salvatore Damore, 10, whose body was found in the Lynn marshes in the summer of 1929 after his parents had paid $5000 to a mysterious kidnaper who never was apprehended.

There had been no children by her second husband, Mrs. Moraes said, but her first marriage was blessed with 16.

Suing Vet Tells Of Triangle

It grieved him sorely to catch his wife kissing another man—but it keeled him over completely when the interloper met him on the street later and told him to keep away from her, Pvt. Peter J. Baldacchino of Archer st., Somerville, testified in Middlesex Probae Court today.

And, to make it worse, he said, his mate, Betty, brandished a razor when he objected to such goings-on.

Judge George M. Poland gave him a divorce on ground of cruelty.

West Roxbury Wife Dies, Wed 60 Years

Mrs. John H. Johnson, 85, who on Oct. 11 observed the 60th anniversary of her wedding to "Jim" Johnson, retired veteran Associated Press telegrapher, died yesterday.

Besides her husband she leaves two sons, James F. and Edmund J. Johnson; a daughter, Mrs. William Rodgers, all of West Roxbury; 15 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren. Services will be in St. Mary's Church in Dedham, tomorrow.

Bouncing Bullets Wound Hunter, 16

COLRAIN, Dec. 3 (AP) — A buckshot that ricocheted off a tree when several hunters fired simultaneously at one deer wounded Richard Herzig, 16, of Grisvoldville in the ankle today.

Herzig's father, Harvey, shot the deer, then took his son back from his first hunting trip to a doctor.

Child Bride Fickle, Says Suing Vet

SALEM, Dec. 3—His 14-year-old bride was affectionate—but she was also fickle, Thomas Wetherbee, 20, of Wyoma st., Lynn, testified in probate court today.

Wetherbee, a World War II veteran, asked a divorce from Rosella of Pitcher, Okla., on grounds of cruelty. Judge John V. Phelan took the case under advisement.

The veteran said he had married her a year ago while he was in an Army camp near her home. Two months later, he testified, he caught her "hugging and kissing" one of his buddies.

"I argued with her about it," he said, "but she slapped me around the house."

"What did she weigh?" his counsel inquired.

"Hundred and sixty-five," said Wetherbee.

Seaman Shot In Ship Brawl

During a brawl early today between crew members aboard the S. S. New Zealand Victory, berthed at East Boston, Seaman Fred Swanson, 21, was shot in the stomach by a policeman.

Answering a riot call, Patrolman John O'Leary, 40, of Station 7, saw Swanson enter a cabin and lock the door. O'Leary fired through door, after an axe blade had crashed through the woodwork, driving splinters around the patrolman's eye.

Swanson was held at City Hospital, not seriously wounded, and will be arraigned in East Boston court on charges of drunkenness and assault and battery.

YOUTHS CAPTURED

GROTON, Ct. Dec. 3 (AP)—Four youths who escaped from the New London County jail last night were captured at Montville today by State Police.

Tyler Kent N. Y. Arrival Shrouded in Deep Secrecy

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Secrecy surrounded the scheduled arrival here today of Tyler Kent, 34, former American embassy clerk, whom the British imprisoned on charges of revealing contents of coded messages between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

He sailed 11 days ago from London aboard the British steamer Silver Oak and was expected to arrive at dawn today. But at noon the ship had not docked and Port Collector Harry Durning said "we have no report on it."

Kent, in 1940, was convicted of "violating the official secrets act." He was sentenced to seven years imprisonment, and his term, with time off for good behavior, expired Oct. 5.

A spokesman for the Kerr Steamship Line, owner of the vessel, said government officials had "clamped a blackout on information concerning the Silver Oak."

White House Denies Berle Recalled

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (INS)—The White House today denied reports that Adolphe Berle, United States ambassador to Brazil, has been recalled by President Truman.

Press Secy. Charles G. Ross said Berle would visit Washington but that the rtiy was on his own initiative and, as far as he knows, one of periodic visits which ambassadors make, to reporting to the State Department.

Bradford Blasts Airport Bus Action

Action of the state public utilities commission in denying a franchise to the Boston Elevated for bus operation to and from Logan Airport was "an arrogant disregard of the public interest," Lt. Gov. Bradford asserted today in an address at the Shrine luncheon of Aleppo Temple.

The El's petition was rejected by a 3-to-2 vote. Previously the utilities commission had granted a similar petition of the Sutcliffe Storage & Warehouse Co., although the corporation's bylaws were not amended to cover that form of business until 38 days later. The corporation now has a petition before the State Public Works Department asking exclusive leave to operate buses in and out of the airport.

Bradford told the luncheon group:

"Of what use is it to advertise the advantages of Massachusetts nationally and internationally, to spend millions in the development of our great international airport, to focus the hopes of the entire Commonwealth upon our coming place in the air age, if a small group of appointive officials can, by arrogant disregard of the public interest, successfully croke our progress and stifle all hope of successful competition?

"The indefensible action of the majority of the Board of Public Utilities last week in denying a franchise to the Boston Elevated Railway for inexpensive bus service to the Logan Airport, is an example of autocratic obstinacy it would be hard to to match.

"It is charitable to call this high-handed action stupid. To deny that air passengers to Boston need more adequate ground transportation under present conditions is more blindly stupid than anything since King Canute ordered the tide to stop. The decision may have been dictated by othel ess discernible reasons. If that is the oase, let us hope these reasons will be thoroughly exposed by investigation. In either case, three men on the Board of Public Utilities have made a mockery of the aspirations of four million people of this Commonwealth."

CHUNGKING, Dec. 3 (AP)—The city of Mukden in Manchuria lies only 30 miles ahead of advancing Nationalist spearheads, Chinese Central News Agency reported today.

10 on Sinking Dragger Saved

Storm-tossed since early last Thursday when she was caught in the northeast gales which battered the New England coast, the dragger Emily H. was found today 80 miles south of Block Island, by the British merchant ship Wanderer.

The 76-foot fishing vessel was in a sinking condition when sighted by the Wanderer. Her captain, Hiram Jackson, and the crew of nine men, one of whom was reported injured, were transferred to the British ship.

The Wanderer reported by radio to Coast Guard headquarters, and the cutters Spar and Anemone were immediately dispatched to pick up the rescued fishermen and bring them to the nearest hospital.

The Emily H. disappeared into the storm Thursday when a tow line broke while she was being brought to port by the Coast Guard Cutter Gen. Greene. The vessel was then adrift somewhere east of Great Round Shoal, off Nantucket.

The Gen. Greene had to give up the search and make for Newport, R. I. for repairs.

SINUS TROUBLE CAN BE CURED with SUPER OXYGEN and NEGATIVE IONS

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR SINUS SUFFERERS

In New England, about one out of five have a "germ" disease referred to as Sinus Trouble!

Nine out of ten so affected believe that because of absence of pain, it is merely Catarrh and needs no relief.

More body ailments can be traced to Sinus Trouble than to any other single malady.

Doctors claim that over 50% of Arthritis is caused by Sinus Trouble. The lining of the heart may become involved. The kidneys may be attacked. Deafness and middle ear infection are common, necessitating mastoid operations. Moreover, there is apt to be a general debility with a lack of vital energy, in addition to frequent head colds.

REMOVE THE CAUSE AND YOU REMOVE THE TROUBLE

We have records to prove that this can be done!

Treatments can be taken without discomfort, are moderately priced, and administered under a doctor's direction.

Atomic Bombing Decision Made by F. D., Says Bush

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Dr. Vannevar Bush told Senators today President Roosevelt made the decision to use the atomic bomb against Japan, even though it involved killing civilians, in order to destroy industries.

Dr. Bush testified before the Senate special atomic energy committee other weapons as deadly, or worse, will be involved in future wars.

His references to the late president were made in answer to numerous questions by senators concerning possible world control of the atomic bomb.

Bush said scientists under his direction had developed a powerful incendiary to burn Japanese cities before the atomic bomb was used.

"The decision to use them was made by President Roosevelt," Dr. Bush asserted. "In order to wipe out industry in Japanese cities we were forced to kill many people. That was a serious problem in my mind and I was glad I did not have to make the decision."

He said the same question arose on use of the atomic bomb "but I knew it would end the war."

Dr. Bush said the future weapons might be powerful new incendiaries, rockets, guided missiles or many other things.

Bush, director of the office of scientific research and development, said premature outlawing of the atomic bomb could well be "disastrous."

France to Nationalize Electrical Industry

PARIS, Dec. 3 (AP)—Nationalization of France's electrical industry was forecast today as the next goal of the Constituent Assembly, which yesterday passed 521 to 35, a plan to take over th shares and management of th Banque de France and four major deposit banks.

A-Bomp Power To Fight Cancer

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 3 (AP)—One of the nation's great scientific machines, the University of California cyclotron, will be diverted from helping develop plutonium for the atomic bomb to a peacetime war against cancer and other malignant diseases.

Prof. Ernest O. Lawrence, famous nuclear scientist, said: "We are about to point the way toward the cure of certain kinds of cancer. That does not mean we will be able to cure al kinds of malignancy, but we hope that in a few years we can show significant percentages of success in the treatment of some varieties."

Girls' Clubs Good Influence

Behavior of girls in neighborhoods with girls' clubs is better than in other similar localities, Arthur T. Burger, executive director of The Girls' Clubs of Boston, Inc., said today at its fifth annual meeting.

The meeting was held at the Marlboro st. home of Mrs. Hartlett Harwood, who was re-elected president for the fifth consecutive term. Other officers elected were Mrs. John S. Ames, Jr., and Miss Katharine Winthrop, vice-presidents; Mrs. Byron Tosi, secretary, and Mrs. John E. Yerxa, treasurer.

New members of the board of directors are Mrs. Charles R. Carney, Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., Mrs. Donald K. David, Mrs. Gardiner H. Fiske, Mrs. Joseph F. Ford, Mrs. Harvey P. Hood, II, Miss Minna Lindsay and Mrs. James H. Perkins, II.

Yamashita Gives Another Alibi

MANILA, Dec. 3 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita declared at his war crimes trial today that one of his army groups had the power of life or death over prisoners and he was helpless to intervene.

The former Jap commander in the Philippines made the startling statement when his counsel called him back to the stand to counter damaging testimony by the prosecution's rebuttal witnesses.

Strike Ties 100 Airport Trucks

Nearly 100 dump trucks, loaded with fill for Logan International Airport, were parked on Newburyport Turnpike, Peabody, today, with drivers refusing to deliver loads due to disputes over the amount being paid per square yard.

According to the truckers, the fill is obtained at pits in Lake and Locust sts., Peabody. Loads from Locust st. are paid at the rate of 2 cents per square yard while the fill from Lake st. calls for 4 cents.

Airport officials said representatives had been sent to Peabody in an effort to iron out difficulties.

Curb on Housing Profits Sought

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Contending "unscrupulous speculators are piling profit on profit at the expense of the home-seekers," Rep. Patman (D.) of Texas, advocated today creation of a federal housing stabilization office to deal with what he termed a "national crisis."

Patman said 2,870,000 veterans require immediate housing. He appeared before the House Banking committee, as first witness supporting his bill which would:

1—Give priority to returning veterans on every apartment and home.

2—"Stop uncontrolled inflationary pressure by holding down home prices to reasonable levels."

A builder would be allowed "a full legal price" on his materials and services, plus current labor cost, plus the same margin of profit made on comparable construction in 1911.

Dye Workers Return In R. I., Connecticut

PROVIDENCE, Dec. 3 (INS)—Striking dye workers in eight Rhode Island and Connecticut plants were going back to work today.

The first of the 3000 workers began crossing picket lines this morning. The strikers were urged by Gov. Pastore and the management to return and negotiations for pay raises would be resumed.

Marshall Warns Training Vital

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (INS)—Gen. Marshall declared today that the atomic bomb and other new weapons have sharpened the need for careful prepartory training for all military personnel in the years immediately ahead.

Marshall said that if the people approve universal military training in peacetime it would mean that "for the first time in our existence the country will be the real master of its own destiny."

The views of the former Army chief of staff, now U. S. ambassador to China were expressed in "United States at war," an annual journal issued by the Army and Navy Journal.

Abp. Cushing Urges Finer Maternity Care

Too much has been said about birth control and too little about improving conditions for mothers, Archbishop Cushing maintained today in describing a new clinic for mothers to be established at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Brighton.

The clinic will offer care prior to, during and following birth at a total cost of $45, and means will be found to defray even this expense for those unable to pay, the Archbishop said.

TRULY GREAT CHARITY

WILL YOU join us today in assisting one of the worthiest of all charities —the Sister Kenny Foundation?

Will you help us to save the lives of thousands of little children and to give them many years of happiness and usefulness?

We ask these questions because the Foundation needs $5,000,000 to expand its truly great work, and a substantial part of that money must be raised in Massachusetts and New England.

The record of Australia-born Sister Kenny is outstanding in the field of infantile paralysis.

This is most clearly shown by the results of her method of treatment during the past five years as head of the world-famous Minneapolis Institute.

Not one child suffering from the disease in that city has had a deformity, nor was a single child crippled.

Before Sister Kenny went to Minneapolis, such maiming results of the dread sickness were frequent and numerous.

BUT THE Institute is too small, and the number of doctors, nurses and technicians it is able to train is also far short of the need and demand.

Accordingly, Bing Crosby, the radio and motion picture star, has accepted the national chairmanship of the $5,000,000 fund campaign.

He is assisted in Massachusetts by Governor Tobin, P. A. O'Connell and many other distinguished citizens.

The funds, Mr. Crosby tells us, will be used as follows:

"Half of what you give will be allocated for use in your own community, to aid in the fight against polio and eventually to establish a local Elizabeth Kenny Clinic.

"The other half will go to the Sister Kenny Foundation in Minneapolis to expand its facilities and to train Kenny technicians to man new clinics."

Boston and all other cities and towns should have the benefits and protection of such skilled doctors and nurses, for, as Mr. O'Connell has said:

"Infantile paralysis is one of the most insidious diseases and for 160 years scientists have been trying to isolate the germ, but up to the present time they have not been successful in doing it.

"We cannot hope to exterminate it immediately—we cannot prevent epidemics, BUT WE CAN BE STRONG AND READY FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS WHEN IT STRIKES.

"Our ammunition will be the dimes and dollars contributed by our people."

AS CHRISTMAS approaches and our thoughts turn to an Infant in a manger, let us give and give as generously as our financial condition permits.

Let us make our liberal contributions with the knowledge that we are doing the best thing in the world for little children who look to us with bewildered eyes, asking why we don't take pain away or why we can't help tiny limbs that won't move.

The Elizabeth Kenny Institute receives no financial support from any other foundation. It depends solely on the money we are now giving. Sister Kenny herself receives no pay for her marvelous work.

The campaign will continue through next Saturday. For your convenience, here is a coupon showing how you may contribute so that your donation will be correctly listed:

The soldier from the war returns,
The sailor from the main;
But I have parted from my love,
Never to meet again,
My dear,
Never to meet again.
When day is gone and night is come,
And all folk bound to sleep,
I think on him that's gone away
The lee-lang night, and weep,
My dear,
The lee-lang night and weep.

"YOU WRITE too much about yourself and I want it stopped," complains a Detroit subscriber. Following our long-established policy, this complaint was investigated. Checking back, by the line, on past columns I find I have written 84 per cent about other people, 13 per cent about Brooklyn, two and one-half per cent about my dog and one-half per cent about myself. However, as our aim is to please the clientele, I shall cut down talking about myself. So I will not tell you again about my new gray flannel suit or mention the elegant pair of tan shoes for which I paid $22.50 and expect to last me ten years.

Ask Dorothy Parker what she thinks of that"* . . . "Here is something for Brooklyn and California to try to top," writes a Long Islander. *"A man and a woman were walking through the underpass to the westbound trains at Hollis, L. SIDELIGHTS: When the sportscribes discuss fighters of the yesteryear, why do they practically always omit to mention Dave Shade of California? I always considered Dave a great and picturesque ringman . . . To young gentlemen who aspire to be taller, "Why Be Short?" by Paul O'Neil should be a very interesting book. It explains how a short man can make himself appear taller.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q. As a native of Dublin, Ireland, would like to know how Dublin, Cal., got its name. A. Dublin, which is near Livermore, Cal., the home of Max and Buddy Baer, was given its start about 1852 by one James Witt Dougherty. Asked by a stranger what the name of the town was, he said: "Dougherty's Station but there are so many Irishmen around here it should be called Dublin." And from then on that is what it was called.

BRIEFLY: "Belts to size 68. Underwear to size 66," are among the items offered by a Manhattan shop specializing in attire for fat men . . . "Why has Dorothy Thompson been referred to as a 'breast-beating Boadicea?" asked a Philadelphian. I don't know why Miss Thompson was so described. All I know is that Broadicea was a British warrior-queen who first defeated the Romans and was then defeated by them. After the defeat she committed suicide.

PLEASE NOTE: A mother took her children to the matinee at a neighborhood theater to see "Pinocchio." On the program with this was a government propaganda picture depicting the horrors of war including scenes of many dead and mangled bodies. You can imagine the effect of this film on the children. The mother, accompanied by several other indignant parents, protested to the theater manager. He said he was not to blame as he was showing the picture "by the order of the Government." That's ridiculous. The United States Government hasn't the power to make any theater owner show any film against his will.

CLOTHES HORSE: "The smartest suits for men this year will be the gray and blue ones." So states an expert on the subject of fashions for men. If that claim is correct I am right in style. I have just acquired an elegant gray flannel suit. I already have a couple of blue ones. This same expert claims white shirts are what the well-dressed man should wear. I like light blue shirts.

"Patience, Dave, I think he's starting to catch on!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—The homeless war veteran and millions of other Americans who are camping in miserable crowded quarters in American cities and towns are frequently suffering from the greed of local plumbing and electrical contractors and manufacturers of building supplies and their dealers.

Westbrook Pegler

It is a combination aimed at the builders, the renters and the purchasers of homes and now has become so grasping that new building, after more than five years of suspension except in emergency war communities, is in pathetic proportion to the tragic need.

These men are protected in their activities by town and city ordinances and building codes put through city councils for no beneficial public purpose and with hardly even a pretense of any other purpose than to subject the best class of our citizens, the homemakers and homeowners, to their restraints.

There are many thousands of decent, public-spirited plumbers and plumbing contractors and electricians and electrical contractors in the United States who would be glad to give the people a square deal but can't offer them economical bids because the men representing combines have the power to "examine" them in written tests and deny them local licenses on the ground of unfitness.

The "examiners" are the contractors who got in on the ground floor and the ordinances which require "examinations" and local licenses permit them to keep out all competition by deliberately flunking the new applicants.

I HAVE a letter from a woman in a large Texas city presenting a typical example of this robbery:

"My husband," she writes, "was one of the best plumbers in Lincoln, Neb. He decided to go into business here. After a long wait, he was 'allowed' to take the 'examination.' It consisted of such questions as these: 'What is air?' 'What is water?' 'What would you do to get soft water?'

"To the last question he answered: 'I would install a commercial water softener.'

"He was wrong. The answer was 'Dig a cistern and let the rain water run off the roof.'

"The city inspector is in the Master Plumbers' Association and the union business agent. They all advised my husband to go to work for an existing shop, and they would require no license of any kind. Some of the old-timers who came in under the 'grandfather' clause couldn't pass any examination, and were frank in saying they would fight to keep out a new shop.

"The license fee is $100, but even if a man could slip by the 'examination' he would be hooked again because the supply houses have orders not to sell to new men.

"With the excuse of war shortage they are scalping the customers plenty. Nobody can challenge the rejection of applicants. They make me think of a bunch of pigs in a trough."

★ ★ ★

HERE IS another letter from an important California city with a desperate housing situation:

"I am the owner of a small electrical shop trying to get the right to work here. I have been an electrician 20 years. Having opened a shop, I can't get the necessary city license. I have taken the local examination several times but always have failed to satisfy the local board of electrical examiners that I am an electrician. The board consists of old-time local electrical contractors.

"According to the local ordinance these men can ask any questions and grade the papers as they wish. They have been doing this for 30 years. I have lived in this country 35 years, but my record and reputation mean nothing when it comes to getting a master electrician's license, although I have a State license to do electrical contracting anywhere in California.

"Even the city has issued me a certificate of competency providing that the city believes I know how to use tools and do as the city code says. But the examiners exercise their right to make the examination so hard that nobody can pass."

★ ★ ★

I CAN AFFIRM that the best electrician in the United States could be stumped by the men composing many such examining boards, because they may ask such questions as "how high is up?" and there is no reviewing authority to smash an outright conspiracy to exclude new contractors.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 3—Here's an actor who has never had a battle with Jack Warner. His name is Ronald Reagan. Ronnie was in the service four years and the day he got discharged was put on full salary without even a movie in sight for him.

Ronnie told me, "When I asked Jack when I was going back to work he said 'You have nothing to worry about. Just relax until we find a good property for you. We don't want to bring you back in a poor story just because you're on salary.'" So many other things actors have said against Jack have been printed that I think this little tribute is due him.

Ronald Reagan

Now Ronnie is going to work in "Stallion Road," the Stephen Longstreet book, which Longstreet is adapting. I do hope the title is changed. The story was originally bought for Errol Flynn.

NO YOUNG COUPLE in Hollywood has won more admiration and respect from the public than Susan Peters and Richard Quine. That boy has been an angel dropped out of heaven to Susan since her terrible hunting accident. So it is wonderful to be able to tell you that Richard, out of the Coast Guard, has a job now on the MGM lot. He goes into "But Not Goodbye," an original which Irving Starr will produce and S. Sylvan Simon direct. Susan is as proud as Punch of him, but isn't falling behind in her career either. She does radio shows from a wheelchair and is writing a series of interviews for Photoplay Magazine.

JIM McGINNIS, MGM writer, left for New York to talk with representatives of Archbishop Spellman about his book, "The Risen Soldier." For the second time in motion pictures Christ and the Blessed Virgin will be pictured. This will naturally involve the British censorship problem which forbids Christ to be shown. In "King of Kings" the C. B. DeMille picture, the figure, portrayed by H. B. Warner appeared. It would have to be done very carefully, but Metro will have the good taste and Jim McGinnis is a good person to handle the story.

CAN'T TELL how glad I am that Ann Dvorak and Leslie Fenton have postponed their divorce. Talked with Ann who told me both were very reluctant to go through with the proceedings. "We were married a long time and went through a lot together in England during the war. There's no one in my life and no one in Leslie's. We both hated to break up our marriage, and so sat down and talked it over." Ann said she is hoping this will mean a reconciliation. If only other married people had the good sense to talk over their differences we would have fewer divorces and fewer broken homes.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Wally Ford's pretty daughter, Patricia, has confided to her parents she was secretly married last spring to Zeno Zachery, a young Los Angeles attorney, recently discharged from the Army. Pat, who is 18 and very pretty, had planned an acting career. In fact, she has appeared with Wally on both stage and screen. Her mother was very upset because of Pat's extreme youth, but she and Wally like Zachery very much and have given the couple their blessing.

BEN LYON keeps telephoning and writing Bebe Daniels from London that he's very lonely for his family, so Bebe is sending daughter, Barbara Bebe, overseas to be with her father, and if you think Barbara isn't excited! She went for her passport and now is waiting until the State Department arranges transportation. Bebe has been making Christmas recordings for the British hospitals with our American stars. She made one with Van Johnson, one with Bob Hope and has a schedule that includes one almost every day. This, with her job at the Hal Roach studio, is keeping her plenty busy

★ ★ ★

NO USE to ask Frank Capra if he's bought a play or novel. He always denies everything and then two days later announces the same purchase What can you do with people like that when you try to play the game fair? So I'm not even calling Mr. Capra or Mr Sam Briskin to ask if it's true they bought Arthur Noyes' "No Other Man," because I know they have. It's written by the British poet and is the story of a young man who comes back to England from the war and finds no one there. Everybody has been killed but a girl he finds in a museum

★ ★ ★

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Ham Nelson, Bette Davis' ex, is consoling himself with attractive Rosalie Hall. Have yet to meet anyone who doesn't like Ham. The boys who were in his outfit overseas praise him to the skies; the Wayne Norrises are expecting another baby; Deborah Kerr, English actress, became the bride of Flight Commander Tony Barkley Nov. 21. They'll honeymoon while she makes a picture for MGM; Ed Wynn, Keenan's pa, and one of our top stage comedians, glimpsed with a pretty blonde he introduced as Mrs. White; it was a near disaster when a seltzer bottle exploded in Mrs. Walter Abel's face. Her face is badly gashed, but she will not lose the sight of an eye as at first feared; that dash Errol Flynn made to the airport at midnight with a police escort was to rush his houseguest, hero Jimmy Robb, to a Navy plane for an emergency operation.

★ ★ ★

MARION AND STANLEY BARBEE (the Coco-Cola king) will be remarried Dec. 18. Saw them at Kitty Spiegel's cocktail party and he never left her side. Marion looked about sweet 16 and it's nice they are back together. Lisette Verea, with more jewels than any actress in town, was with Felix Ferry. Carleton Aslop, who has become Hollywood's favorite man-about-town, brought Ruth Brady, who seems more blonde every time I see her; the Richard Barthelmesses have gone to Santa Barbara for a week and when they return will make their home with their old friend, Watterson Rothacher; Ed Rowley, who owns 125 Texas theaters, has been visiting Joseph Schenck. He's mighty attractive, too, girls; Carole Landis took a suspension from 20th and left town by plane without a word to anyone, much less her studio. That's all today. See you tomorrow

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

By LT. FRANK M. LEONARD

(Pinch-hitting for Dorothy Kilgallen, who is on vacation)

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—"What do you think about when you're a prisoner of war? I suppose it's mostly about your friends and home."

This is what you think about. This is what America is in the hearts and minds of men caged off from their home in the heart of the enemy homeland.

White bread—the heady odor from the ovens in the corner bakery . . . A man-sized malted milk at the teen-age spa around the corner from the town square . . . The smell of gasoline and the spluttering bluster of the traffic cop . . . Snowy sheets, with the whispering of starch as you slide between them . . . A long shower, bright with the plumbing that only America can produce.

★ ★ ★

HOLIDAYS—American holidays Thanksgiving—the stuffed turkey, the loud camaraderia of relatives . . . The importunities of the kids . . . The conclave of the women folks in the kitchen, and, ah that overladen nap on the couch as the sun dies in the clear November sky . . . July Fourth . . . the interminable traffic line, indolence at the beach or in the mountains, the weary wending home, rumpled and burned and done in . . . Halloween—tapping at the windows, the miniature ragamuffins with outthrust palms for alms . . . The gleam of the lighted pumpkin, the tents of corn in the field and the hard cider that grandpop has hidden from the eyes of grandma . . . Christmas—the gay competition for the tree at the curbstone mart.

★ ★ ★

HANDBALL and a swim at the "Y" . . . the clean crack of a bat against a ball, the crouched audible crowds, the scythe-like swing of the umpire's arm, the synchronized deflation of the fans as they sink back again in their seats . . . The high and fancy pass, the snatching of the oval from the skies . . . the careful relaying of the flask from seat-mates.

America! Not a big thing when you're away from it. It's a fabled place made up of countless little items, none of which mean a thing unless you haven't got them in your hand. Such as—

The beaches and the crowded highways leading to and from them . . . The crash of fenders, the fuming irritation, the rioting of the children in the back of the buggy . . . The forgotten lunch basket and all the little emotional upheavals that make an American week-end the unforgettable event that it is.

★ ★ ★

That is our America, not the Empire State Building, the Statue of Liberty, the Grand Canyon or the Golden Gate Bridge, but the tiny things no one else in the world can appreciate as much as we. For we, who long suffered from the lack of them, found that they were true on our return.

JOVE, JUNIOR, YOU SEEM TO BE DEPRESSED ABOUT SOMETHING!... YOUR USUAL CHEERY NATURE APPEARS BOGGED IN A SWAMP OF MELANCHOLY!... WHAT IS IT?

HOW ABOUT YOU AS SANTA, JUDGE?

Washington Scene

By George Dixon

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate. Reproduction prohibited.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—Mr. Paul Porter, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, was playing golf one day with a party called Gene Sarazen when this Sarazen got into a thing known as a sandtrap.

In golf this is not considered an advantageous place to be, particularly by beginners, but Mr. Sarazen seemed nothing daunted.

Gene Sarazen

He pulled a strange-looking weapon from his bag, took a stance like ye olde woodsman about to fell an oak, and cut loose.

The weapon bit deeply into the sand. Mr. Porter doubts if it went all the way down to bedrock, but it seemed like it.

However, the ball came up with the excavated earth and plopped on the green, which is where Mr. Sarazen had intended it to be in the first place. As nearly as I have been able to gather, golf players always want to be on the green and why they keep roaming elsewhere on the course has never been satisfactorily explained.

As soon as he had cleared flying sand and other debris from his eyes, Mr. Porter asked Mr. Sarazen what had taken place. Pointing to the weapon he said:

"What is that—a bulldozer?"

Mr. Sarazen explained it was a special club of his own design, which he had elected to call a sandiron.

"It is certainly a weird article," commented the FCC chairman. "It looks like a cross between a medieval headsman's axe and a gadget to cut the eyes from potatoes."

"It is very handy," agreed Mr. Sarazen. "I think it could also be used for digging angleworms and mixing salads."

MR. SARAZEN SAID he first used the weapon in actual combat at a golf course in Scotland named St. Isidore's, or St. Anthony's, or St. Andrew's or something like that. It appears they play golf in Scotland too, which was news to me, as I had thought all they played was bagpipes.

Anyway, Mr. Sarazen smuggled the sandiron into the tournament. It proved very effective in sandtraps. In fact, after it is used in the same sandtrap a couple of times there is no sandtrap left; just a volcano crater.

The Scotsmen, probably not wishing to see their golf course dislodged and cast to the winds, howled that the sandiron was illegal.

"Hoot Mon!" they hooted (It seems the Scotch are never happy unless they are hooting something, preferrably a "Mon"). "Ye dinna use that thing, ye dinna ken!" (The latter is a Scotch expression meaning simply "ye dinna ken.")

Mr. Sarazen, who, incidentally, is the former national open champion, defied them to show anything in the rule books outlawing the weapon. The Scots pointed out there couldn't be anything in the rule books because such a weapon had never before been known to man, but Mr. Sarazen stood his ground and finally won out.

★ ★

MR. PORTER was so taken with the sandiron that Mr. Sarazen made him a gift of one. A short time later the FCC boss played against Gov. Clarence Meadows of West Virginia and used the sandiron so effectively that Governor Meadows tried to purloin it, but was caught in the act.

The Governor seemed so forlorn at being neglected however, that Mr. Porter induced Mr. Sarazen to part with another sandiron, which was sent to the would-be pilferer.

However, word reached Mr. Sarazen that the Governor of West Virginia had a deadly golf enemy, notably Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio. So he sent a similar iron to Governor Lausche, together with this letter:

"The Honorable Clarence W. Meadows, Governor of West Virginia, recently became attached to a sandiron which I had given to a friend (Mr. Porter) who later advised me that in order to prevent Governor Meadows from committing larceny, I should send a duplicate club to Mr. Meadows. This I have done.

"Subsequently I have learned that the burning issue in the country is no longer 'what did the Governor of North Carolina say to the Governor of South Carolina?' but whether the Governor of Ohio can defeat the Governor of West Virginia on the golf course.

"I have no desire to be placed in the position of favoring either side to this controversy. I am strictly non-partisan, and having learned of this West Virginia-Ohio feud, I most certainly want to avoid being caught in the middle.

"Therefore, in the interest of fair play, and in order to make certain that neither party has an undue advantage, I am sending you a duplicate of the club which I sent to Governor Meadows at the request of this friend who didn't want his stolen. I am likewise sending a copy of this communication to Governor Meadows, and conclude with the wish that you gentlemen will resume at the earliest opportunity, and may the best man win!"

NOW, IF Mr. Porter can only induce West Virginia and Ohio to share the atom bomb——

The Brighter Side

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office)

By DAMON RUNYON

During George Holland's vacation, the Boston Evening American presents a daily article by Damon Runyon, famous short-story writer and novelist.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—I recently saw Jack Conway, the veteran Boston sports writer, a rubicund, senatorial figure of a man, who has been the New England oracle of his field for many years, though he is somewhat incidentally a lawyer.

Jack now seems to be specializing in horse racing, but the manly art of scrambling ears was formerly his leather and I am inclined to think he still loves it more than any other field of sports. He once picked 50-some-odd boxing winners in a row which must be a record of some kind. Most sports writers have difficulty picking one consecutive winner.

"I was talking about you the other day to Walter Howey," said Jack, surrounding me in the redoubtable Mr. Shor's corned beef and cabbage orchard which is generally infested by sports figures. "I told him I would like to see you back writing sports again. But I don't suppose you would fancy that, eh?"

I said no. If Jack had waited I would have explained why in detail, but this was his first visit to New York in some time and fingers were beckoning him from all directions, so he left me and went around among the tables issuing enormous hellos like a candidate for public office.

★ ★ ★

I WOULD HAVE explained to Jack that the reason I have no fancy for returning to sports writing is I know I would be no good at it any more; at least not in the tradition of sports writing that flourished in my day as a member of that branch of the newspaper game.

I had softened up too much long before I quit it. I had become too relenting and too friendly and had too many personal contacts. Instead of the district attorney which I hold should be the role of the sports writer and especially the columnist or editorial commentator, I found myself too often playing the part of the counsel for the defense.

To be a great sports writer a man must hold himself pretty much aloof from the characters of the games with which he deals before his sympathy for them commences to distort his own viewpoint. There is nothing more engaging than an engaging rogue and there are many engaging rogues in professional sports. I fear I knew most of them, and that is not good for a sports writer.

★ ★ ★

THE VERY NATURE of nearly all professional sports and some amateur sports, too, makes it subject to influences and practices that are harmful to public morals and, inasmuch as the newspapers recognize the reader interest in sports to the extent of giving space to it and hiring many sports writers, it is the duty of these writers to severely police their field.

They will be called knockers by sports itself and by many of their own fellows, but they will be feared and respected and the sports public will buy the newspapers they represent to see what they have to say. The "he-never-knocked-nobody" sports writer sells very few newspapers, though he gets large and cordial hellos as he moves among the operators and participants in professional sports.

★ ★ ★

I HAVE HEARD it argued that a man writes according to his nature—according to the way he is gaited, but I am not sure that this is true. I think it is a matter of character and courage and sense of right and justice. If you have that you can be sweet-natured and kindly off stage or an 18-karat stinker and still be a great sports writer in my opinion.

The soft-soap style of sports writing makes things pleasanter for a sports writer in his daily life as he encounters many more smiles than frowns and it fills his space as well as the sand-paper stuff in case the publisher chances to glance at the sports page to see if the guy is working. But after awhile, few read him. They know what to expect.

OH, NO, I DO NOT say that a sports writer should always be on the blast. That can pall, too. I say he should blast when conditions and abuses warrant and not pass them over unnoticed or apologetically. But inasmuch as even my unpracticed orb can observe conditions right now that seem to me should be blasted, yet my attentive ear hears no general blasting, so I take it that sports writing in that tradition has gone out of fashion with sports writers for the time being.

Except for a few instances. We still have a few stout-hearted chaps of the old school who lay about them boldly and well. And there are a number of youngsters coming up since World War II who give promise of development. I would like to be where they are now, just starting out, of course, but I would not want to go back.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—Will you please give me the name and address of the office to which a soldier should write for information about decorations and awards? K. V., Medford.

A—Write to Awards and Decorations Bureau, sub-branch of the Adjutant General's Office, 72-74 Wall st., New York, N. Y.

Q—I was discharged from the Army four months ago, and I would like to have corrections made on my discharge certificate. Where would my service records be filed now? J. J. W., Stoneham.

A—The records of demobilized personnel of World War II are on file at Demobilized Records Branch, 4300 Goodfellow blvd., St. Louis, Mo. If you wish corrections made on the certificate, send it to that office with detailed information regarding changes. The certificate should be sent by registered mail.

Q—Does Vermont pay a bonus to veterans? My son enlisted at Fort Ethan Allen in 1942 and was killed in action in 1944. Would the bonus be paid me? L. M., Rutland.

A—Suggest you write to the Adjutant General's Office, State House, Montpelier, Vt., for detailed information. Vermont does pay a bonus.

Q—If a soldier is discharged very early in the month and doesn't have enough money to pay his share towards Family Allowance, will his family receive any amount at all for that month? Will the government allowance be paid even without the soldier's money? S. C., Manchester.

A—Family allowance is paid for the full month in which the soldier is discharged, regardless of whether he has sufficient pay due to cover his share.

Q—My husband was killed in action over a year ago. Can I file claim for his state bonus? C. L., Cambridge, Mass.

A—Yes, a widow may file for the state bonus.

Q—My brother was killed in action, and left a widow who receives his pension and insurance. My parents were dependent on my brother and he sent money to them each month. They live in Canada. Are they entitled to a pension? J. G., Lawrence, Mass.

A—The parents of a serviceman are eligible for pension when they establish the fact of dependency. Suggest you contact the Veterans Administration, 17 Court st., Boston, Mass., for detailed information.

Q—My son quit school at 16, worked for a year and then enlisted in the Navy. At the time he was in his second year at Mechanic Arts High School. Now 19 years old, he has a keen desire to attend M. I. T., but realizes lack of high school diploma is his big drawback. What could be done under the GI Bill to prepare him for Tech? M. P., Roxbury.

A—He could return to high school and graduate, then apply for admission to M. I. T. Or he might attend designated preparatory school and prepare for a selected college. Under GI Bill he is entitled to one year plus time spent in service. This, however, would apply only to a school where tuition is required. Upon discharge, suggest he talk matter over with Veterans' Administration advisers on education, 17 Court st., Boston.

Skipper Named On 2 Counts in Loss of Cruiser

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (INS)—Two specific charges of neglect and inefficiency were filed today in the court-martial of Capt. Charles B. McVay, III, skipper of the cruiser Indianapolis when she was sunk near the Philippines last July with the loss of 880 dead and injury to the remaining 316 aboard.

Highlights of the accusations where that McVay failed to order the vessel to steer a zigzag course and proper precautions where not taken for abandoning ship in time.

The charges, signed by Sec. Forrestal, and presented to Capt. Thomas J. Ryan, judge advocate of the eight-member court, were:

Charge 1—"In that Charles B. McVay, III, captain, U. S. Navy, while so serving in command of the U. S. S. Indianapolis, making passage singly, without escort, from Guam, Marianas, to Leyte, Philippine Islands, through an area in which enemy submarines might be encountered, did, during good visibility after moonrise on 29 July, 1945, at or about 10:30 p. m., minus nine and one-half zone, time, neglect and fail to exercise proper care and attention to the safety of said vessel in that he neglected and failed, then and thereafter, to cause a zigzag course to be steered, and he, the said McVay, through said negligence, did suffer the said U. S. S. Indianapolis to be hazarded, the United States then being in a state of war."

Charge II—"In that Charles B. McVay, III, captain, U. S. Navy, while so serving in command of the U. S. S. Indianapolis, making passage from Guam, Marianas islands, to Leyte, Philippine Islands, having been informed at or about 12:10 a. m., minus nine and one-half zone time, on 30 July, 1945, that the vessel was badly damaged and in sinking condition, did then and there fail to issue and see effected such timely orders as were necessary to cause said vessel to be abandoned, as it was his duty to do, by reason of which inefficiency many persons on board perished with the sinking of said vessel; the United States then being in a state of war."

Parents Appeal For News of Son

The grieving parents of Pvt. Henry F. Twomey, reported missing in action May 8, 1942, after the fall of the Philippines, today appealed to all servicemen and liberated prisoners who have returned from the Philippines for any clue to the fate of their son.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Twomey of Sacramento st., Cambridge, have had no word of what happened to their son, who was stationed at Nichols Air Field, Rizal, P. I.

His nickname was "Hank" and he edited the airfield's newspaper.

TWA Ship Flies Drug to Paris

The 300-mile-an-hour TWA Constellation takes off from Washington today on a preview flight to Paris with a group of picked passengers and a package of penicillin destined to save the life of a critically ill Frenchman.

The drug—2,000,000 units of it—was obtained in Boston after a Paris appeal had reached Mlle. Georges Lequimener, French teacher at Erskine Junior College and director of the hospital committee of American Relief for France. Its mission is to save the life of Henri Launey, her brother-in-law, who doctors say must have penicillin to cure an infection.

Nazi Sweat Box Torturers Jailed

WUPPERTAL, Germany, Dec 3 (AP)—Col. Erich Killinger, 52-year-old German prison camp commandant, was sentenced by a British military court today to five years imprisonment, and two of his aides received prison terms for mistreatment of RAF fliers in a "sweat box" camp.

Killinger and two staff officers, Maj. Heinz Junge and Lt. Heinrich Eberhardt, were convicted of torturing airmen in hot, asbestos-lined cells in nan endeavor to make them disclose Allied air secrets.

Junge was sentenced to five years and Eberhardt to three years.

STABBED IN THE BACK BY ARTHRITIS

NOW is the time of the year when Arthritis is on the loose, stabbing victims after victim with its deadly dagger of pain. If you are one of those unfortunate people, here is important information for you to know. Many people suffering from nagging arthritis pains in back, knees, shoulders and hands, never suspect that these pains may be substantially caused, in some cases, by excessive acid wastes within the body.

As a dietary aid to assist the body's faster neutralization and elimination of these excessive acid wastes from tissues and joints, which in turn may tend to bring speedier pain relief to this extent, Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets were devised by a well-known food nutritionist. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets contain food sodium and food iodine, two minerals of nutritional value which may prove to be helpful to many arthritis sufferers. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets are free from all harmful Chemical drugs. They positively do not contain injurious ingredients of any kind.

CUT OUT THIS ADVERTISEMENT and present it with $1.95 at any Nature Food Centres Store to get your Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets. Take them as directed on the label and if they do not bring soothing relief to your aching joints and muscles faster than any other dietary aid you have ever used, THE TRIAL IS FREE! Just return the bottle and get your money back. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets cost only a few cents a day to use. 250 Tablet Bottles — $1.95. (500 Tablet Economy Size, $3.25.) Mail orders sent postpaid. was still being searched by local police, who reported a man told them he saw a woman walking in a road in Norton, three miles distant, carrying a bundle which resembled an infant.

He was unable to recall whether he saw her on Wednesday night, immediately after the kidnaping, or on a night later in the week.

Patrolman George W. Henderson of Mansfield said he and acting Chief Lawrence Barrows will search through unoccupied cottages in the Greenwood lake section and would direct a search of heated overnight cabins in nearby communities.

They will also continue questioning bus drivers who were present in Mansfield Wednesday night, when a woman carrying a baby alighted from the Boston train and asked a woman cab driver the fare to West Mansfield.

Mrs. Ruth Macomber, the taxi driver, said the woman walked away from the cab, saying she was going to telephone her sister, and did not return. Police believe she might have entered any of the buses at the depot, which travel to Brockton, Attleboro, Foxboro and Norton.

Another clue considered potentially valuable is being investigated in Hampton, N. H. It came from a Taunton man who said he was in a diner in Hampton the night the baby disappeared when a middle-aged woman carrying a baby alighted from a large van and entered the diner.

He said the woman asked the counterman to heat a bottle of milk for the baby, then asked if there were any tourist homes or overnight cabins in the area where she could put up for the night with the baby. She had hitchhiked a ride from Boston to Hampton in the bog van, the informant said he learned.

Chelsea clergymen and their congregations prayed for the baby's return yesterday. Religious leaders laid stress on the spiritual devotion and faith which has accomplished miraculous things for some who have suffered but placed their trust in the Deity.

Among these was Rev. Wilham A. Geldart of the First Baptist Church, Chelsea, who said: "The days of miracles have not passed, and God answers prayers both objectively and subjectively. He may again fulfill our need by softening the heart of this abductor and causing the child to be returned."

More than a score of clues and volunteered tips have already been turned in to police, who are investigating each one, no matter how far-fetched it may at first appear.

Tonight the Chelsea board of aldermen is expected to offer a reward for information leading to the safe return of the infant, taken from his carriage near his home in Arlington st., Chelsea.

The American Veterans of World War II have offered a $200 reward, and Lawrence P. Lyons, Jr., Post No. 12 of the United American Veterans, Chelsea, $50. With the $500 reward offered by the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser, the total now is $750.

Sunday afternoon the facilities of the Yankee Network were extended for the second time to the child's parents. The father read his radio appeal with tears streaming down his face, and Mrs. Carlan, who followed him, was near collapse when she left the studio.

Announcer Verne Williams in turn urged listeners with any knowledge of the missing child to contact the radio station or the police.

Several vacant buildings in the Vale st. section of Chelsea were being searched and a house in Florence st., Everett.

Cong. Knutson Likely To Avoid Operation

WORCESTER, Dec. 3—Physicians attending Cong. Harold Knutson of Minnesota, stricken with a gall bladder attack after addressing a fraternal organization here, said today they did not believe an operation would be necessary.

Vargas' Man Leads In Brazil Election

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 3 (AP)—The first three districts to report in Brazil's first presidential election in 15 years gave a slight lead today to Gen. Eurico Dutra backed by former President Getulio Vargas.

Dispatches disclosed seven persons were killed in political fights yesterday.

History Contest Exams All Ready

With only a few days to go, high school pupils in 42 public and parochial schools of Boston are preparing to compete in the Hearst newspapers American History Awards, for which intra-city contests will be held Friday.

The examination papers will be delivered during the week to principals of all competing schools, and will be sealed until the day of the test.

The highest-ranking pupils in each school, to be adjudged by their respective history teachers, will have their papers forwarded to Supt. Arthur L. Gould and Rev. William J. Daly, supervisor of parochial schools in the archdiocese.

They in turn will appoint an examiner who will select the best three examination papers, and the pupils submitting these papers will be eligible for the city final contest at Faneuil Hall Dec. 17.

The pupils are competing for $1000 in local prizes and $25,000 in national prizes, all in Victory Bonds.

Fashion Here's Skin Satinizer, Pore Refiner Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

THIS IS THE TIME of the year when most of us want to make beautiful music together. When we're riding high on the crest of the holiday tide, we're happy, high-strung, delirious with joy for this first peace-time Christmas. Johnny is coming home and that's that . . . as if there could be more . . . despite the unattractive over-all world picture of politics, economics and national relations.

Let the big guns settle the ills of the world. We've got a world of our own. We're "little women" taken up with our own sphere . . . and how to bring gladness and more gaiety into it. We've earned the right to laugh. Right now we're thinking of the holiday ahead . . . of ourselves and those dear and near to us . . . of the guy who's homeward bound to complete the cycle of simple but wonderful life for us. Let's not let him down.

Maybe this is isolationistic thinking . . . heaven forbid . . . but when it comes to love and romance and looking swell for the grand fella' . . . it's every gal for herself. We've got to be SO appealing that the object of our affections will be bound to keep aloof from "foreign" commitments and entanglements . . . to have eyes "only for you."

It's not selfishness that prompts a woman to want to look her best . . . to take advantage of every beauty trick known to cosmetic science. Those heralded gals of antiquity . . . whose beauty motivated deeds that still make good reading on history's pages . . . lost themselves in all the beautifying aids of their time. Why not we in our day? That we have jars and bottles of tried and tested creams and lotions . . . thanks to cosmetic science . . . is another tribute to the progress of man. Let's not toss away our good chances. We may not make history . . . but we're certain to make HIM happy as we take our place by his side.

Which leads me to spotlight a plastic cream today . . . a preparation that is both a skin satinizer and pore refiner. Countless women to whom we have recommended it in the past have written heaps of praise about it. They've said it has been "wonderful" and "marvelous" and all such eulogizing encomiums in directing their complexions to new life and loveliness. One woman asked for a re-order of five jars.

One of the newest and most outstanding accomplishments of modern cosmetics . . . this cream is an effective but gentle home treatment that helps you smooth away those outward signs of care and fatigue. When you're feeling drawn and tired . . . not quite yourself . . . this cream will gently, restfully . . . tighten and smooth as it leaves the complexion glowing and refreshed. Use it with perfect safety around the eyes . . . where time and weariness take their first toll.

For the name of this plastic cream facial revamper, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BATIKS and brown gabardine are bright fashion buddies. With a dark brown gabardine suit, do as Columbia's star, Jeff Donnell does . . . tie a long, narrow scarf of Chinese silk in green, pink and brown in a bow at the throat . . . and tuck the ends in the belt of your skirt . . . dickey fashion. Batiks are colorful and flamboyant . . . just the necessary lift for a dark background—R. M.

MERRY CHRISTMAS and Happy New Year! Columbia's celluloid cutie, Anita Louise, seems to be all set to celebrate both holidays . . . as her lovely face reflects the joy and gladness of the approaching festive occasions.

Christmas Cards

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

SO MANY LETTERS with questions about Christmas cards are arriving daily in my mail that today I want to answer the ones that seem to be most puzzling to readers.

My favorite is this: Do you think that, in general, friends or even acquaintances prefer to receive a card with the signature handwritten or with the name engraved or printed?

My answer would have to be personal, and I infinitely prefer a card signed with the sender's handwriting. To me it seems more in keeping with the friendly, personal Christmas spirit than a card, no matter how magnificent and costly, with an impersonal greeting and an engraved or printed name.

When the names are written, is the husband's or the wife's name written first?

There is no definite rule about this. The wife's name usually comes first, particularly when the signatures have no last names, as Mary and John. But the one who signs the cards may properly feel that it is more courteous to write her (or his) name last. However, when children's names are included, the father's name always comes first—John and Mary and Janet.

Is it proper to send a card to "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Family"?

No. The phrase "and family" should not be used on an envelope or card. If possible, send one card to "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith," and individual cards to other members of the family.

However, if you wish to send only one card to a household, make a personal bow to every member of the family, either on the envelope or on the card.

For example, you may address the envelope to:

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith
The Misses Joan and Ann Smith
Mr. Thomas Smith

Holiday Season Goodies Make Their Appearance

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

THE JOYFUL EXPECTANCY of the holiday season is here again, and bits of warm red and cool green, in true Christmas tradition, peep from almost every goody prepared in the kitchen these days. Scarlet, tart cranberries and candied cherries and cherry color and a festive flavor and richness to many of the quick breads, cookies and cakes. Citron, nuts, dates and currants are only a few of the many good holiday ingredients to increase the taste-appeal of this season's foods.

Holiday lemon drop cookies have an exciting new combination of flavors and crisp crunchiness that pins a blue ribbon on them. They use none of that precious sugar supply at all, and very little shortening. Crushed lemon drop candies take the place of sugar and flavoring, too, and give the cookies a pleasant macaroon-like texture. Currants and chopped candied cherries add color and flavor as well as a satisfying chewiness.

HOLIDAY LEMON DROP COOKIES

¼ cup currants
2 cups sifted flour
3 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 cup finely crushed lemon drops
⅓ cup shortening
⅓ cup chopped candied cherries
1 egg, beaten
1-3 cup milk
½ tsp. vanilla extract

Pour boiling water over currants and let stand five minutes. Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Add crushed lemon drops and mix well. Cut or rub shortening into flour mixture until crumbly. Drain currants and dry by spreading on paper or towel. Add currants and cherries to flour mixture. Beat egg. Add milk and vanilla extract. Add to flour mixture. Stir until mixture clings together in a ball. Drop by teaspoonfuls about 1 inch apart on well-greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about four dozen cookies.

Cranberry-date roll takes a prize as a leader among coffee cakes. Scarcely any sugar or shortening is used in this recipe, yet the murmur of pleasure and sparkle of eyes at its colorful appearance are likely to increase with each bit of its fruity tenderness.

CRANBERRY-DATE ROLL

2 cups sifted flour 1 tbsp sugar
3 tsp. baking powder 1 tsp. salt
¼ cup shortening
1 egg, beaten ½ cup milk
1 cup chopped uncooked cranberries ½ cup chopped dates
¼ cup orange juice
1 tbsp. grated orange rind

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Add milk to egg, and add to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 30 seconds. Roll into a rectangular sheet 8 inches wide and about ¼ inch thick. Mix cranberries, dates, orange juice, and rind and spread over dough. Roll up like jelly-roll. Cut in slices about ½ inch thick and place slices close together, cut side down, on butterscotch layer in greased 8 x 8 inch cake pan. Bake in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) 25 minutes. Makes 8 x 8 inch coffee cake.

BUTTERSCOTCH LAYER

¼ cup brown sugar
⅓ cup corn syrup
¼ cup water

Mix and heat to boiling. Pour in pan, and place cranberry-date rolls on top.

Telephone Charm

You like to talk over the telephone to people whose voices are pleasant and alert and whose manner of speaking is courteous, interested, amiable. SO DO THEY!—MRS. BEECKMAN.

She Answers GI

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A GIRL from St. Louis, Missouri, asks space to answer a letter written by a G. I. Joe who married a French girl:

"O. K., G. I. Joe, you asked for it, so here goes. So you've never found American girls who possessed charm and at the same time could cook. What kept you alive so long, and made you so strong and healthy that Uncle Sam picked you as a loyal American to help him fight a great war? Could it be the cooking done by the hands of an American woman?

"So your French girl can tell rabbit from cat. We can tell mink from skunk over here—our eyesight is that good. Did you ever stop to think that American girls are the very foundation of our good old United States? And if our good old America holds no interest for you, why did you come home so soon? Why not stay over there?. We American girls want the Stars and Stripes to fly over thoroughbred Americans.

"I feel sorry that your mind has become so poisoned against your good old Uncle Sam, merely because you've been caught in a moment of weakness and loneliness. I'll end with a fervent little prayer of thanksgiving that we have enough of the good old Americans who will live up to 'God Bless America.' "ENGAGED BUT CAN'T COOK."

Hat That Tilts Way Over

By BETTINA BEDWELL

CHOOSE your best side, and then pick out one of those smart midwinter hats that show it off by presenting a wonderful side view.

This style for a hat that tilts way over to one side is a style that Tatiana du Plessix has done more than any other of the five star milliners to make popular, and one of her 24-carat models is sketched by Miss Dulin. It is a puffy beret of glowing red felt, with frills of black grosgrain ribbon making stripes and a bow at the back.

With the hat is shown one of the smart handbags that make such wonderful Christmas presents. This is a Josef bag made of black Josefelt, a thick and supple felt. It has a teardrop ornament of tortoise shell on both sides below the sling strap handle.

Two Engagements

By BETTY ALDEN

MR. AND MRS. PERCY M. HENDRIE of Cohasset gave a pleasant engagement tea yesterday in honor of their daughter, Jean, and Lt. Henry G. Simonds, Jr., USA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Simonds of Brookline.

Jean made her debut in '41-'42, following her graduation from Milton Academy and graduated from Katharine Gibbs School. Lt. Simonds graduated from Noble and Greenough and Harvard '42. They plan to be married in June.

Mary Elizabeth Dunaway

Pourers at the engagement party were Mrs. John H. Page of New York, Mrs. Edward L. Bigelow, Jr. and Ellen Simonds of Chestnut Hill, the three sisters of Lt. Simonds. Also Mrs. Anthony Rogers Whittemore (Kitty Binnian) of Cohasset and Ann Folsom of Hingham.

* * *

ANOTHER ROMANCE of interest to collegiate and social circles is that of Mary Elizabeth Dunaway of Dover, N. H., and Donald Love Burnham, son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Washington Burnham of Lebanon, N. H. Their engagement is announced today by Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Judson Dunaway, parents of the future bride.

Mary Elizabeth graduated from Abbott Academy, Andover, in 1942 and is a senior at Smith. Mr. Burnham graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Dartmouth in 1944. As captain of the track and cross country teams at Dartmouth he gained exceptional recognition in inter-collegiate sports and still holds the national 1000-yard championship.

Now in the Navy Medical Reserve he will graduate from Cornell Medical College in March.

Bishop Upheld On Elliott Ban

POUGKEEPSIE, N. Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—Arthur de Groff, junior warden of the board of vestry of St. James church at Hyde Park, said today the board had voted "to sustain the wishes" of Bishop Manning that Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt be considered ineligible as vestryman.

De Groff also said the board had received a letter from the late president's second son rejecting the post.

"The incident is now closed," De Groff added.

"Iwuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

My achin' back! December I shall always remember. I'm jest gettin' over sore mussels from shovelin' snow. Still it ain't as bad as 3 years ago this time when I was recoverin' from pushin' my car ten blocks. Gas rationin' woulda been 3 years old las' Saturday if it had lasted! I wanna call yer attention ta the fact that next week is Golden Rule Week! If ya think it's funny I should be talkin' about it jest keep in mind that the Golden Rule is my method of operation. It's a great system an' it oughta be workin extra hard for such buddies as mine as Cpl. Peter Bates, what strolled in the other day after 32 months with the 32nd Division in the Pacific, an' Cpl. Victor Mandell what put in the same amounta time around Bougainville and half a dozen other whistle stops. Let's do fer them like they done fer us—give 'em our best! Speakin' of givin' the best, that's exactly wat I'm doin' in my El Tropico Room where I'm givin' the very most terrific in entertainment, atmosphere an' food. I got more tropical atmosphere up there than they got at Waikiki Beach! So the boys have tol' me! Things start there at 6:00 P. M. nightly an' we start the entertainment ball rollin' at noon every day till closin' in Ort's Grille, 25 Essex St.—Advt.

Man Minus Stomach Gets Along Just Fine

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 3 (AP)—In the opinion of a Salt Lake City man, one of the few who should know, living without a stomach is not so bad.

The man, whose name and that of his surgeon were not revealed, said he is now in good health although his stomach was removed six months ago, and the surgeon said he has a fair chance of complete recovery

COLONIAL — "OKLAHOMA," The Theater Guild's fabulous Rodgers-Hammerstein musical smash-hit based on Lynn Riggs' comedy folk drama, "Green Grow the Lilacs," is now in the seventh week of a sellout run terminating Saturday night, Dec. 15. Curtains, 2:20 and 8:20 p. m.

COPLEY — "SCHOOL FOR BRIDES," the sexy farce-comedy with Jack Sheehan and Helen Twelvetrees, tonight enters its fifth and final week.

OPERA HOUSE — "HAMLET," with Michael Todd presenting Maurice Evans in the title role of Mr. Evans' G.I. production of the Shakespearean tragedy, must be caught by Saturday when it departs. This is such a fresh, thrilling, absorbing experience you forget it's Shakespeare.

PLYMOUTH—"DREAM GIRL," starring Betty Field in Elmer Rice's first play in two seasons, is the season's second offering by The Playwrights' Company and very worth your while. Walter Corey, Evelyn Varden, Edmon Ryan, Sonya Stokowski, Kevin O'Shea and others are also excellent in supporting roles.

SHUBERT — "BILLION DOLLAR BABY," the new George Abbott-directed musical with Joan McCracken and Mitzi Green, satirizes those long-gone days of speakeasies, gangsters and possibly the least flattering clothes women ever wore. The book and lyrics are by Betty Comden and Adolph Green, "On the Town" authors. The score is by Morton Gould.

WILBUR — "THE WOULD-BE GENTLEMAN," with Bobby Clark vastly comic in the title role of Michael Todd's modern production of Moliere's "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme."

December 10

PLYMOUTH—"PYGMALION," revival of Shaw's comedy by Theater, Inc., with Gertrude Lawrence as Eliza Doolittle, Raymond Massey as Professor Higgins, and importantly featuring Cecil Humphreys, Katherine Emmett and Melville Cooper. Sir Cedric Hardwicke is staging it. Richard Aldrich is managing director of Theater, Inc.

WILBUR — "DUNNIGAN'S DAUGHTER" S. N. Behrman's new sophisticated comedy with a Mexican locale, is produced by The Theater Guild. Dennis King, Virginia Gilmore and Luther Adler are featured. Staged by Elia Kazan.

COPLEY — "MURDER WITHOUT CRIME," with Hollywood's John Carradine and Lilian Harvey, internationally known stage and screen star, featured in the English murder-melodrama which Theodore C. Ruskin is presenting here prior to Broadway.

December 18

SHUBERT — "NELLIE BLY," new 'round-the-world musical by Sig Herzig starring William Gaxton and Victor Moore and featuring MGM lovely Marilyn Maxwell and Broadway's very funny Bena Venuta, is presented by Nat Carson and Eddie Cantor. Lyrics are by Johnny Burke and the music by James Van Heusen, prize winning team of "Going My Way" and "Swingington & Star Dust." Carson is staging production. Edward Caton is in charge of choreography.

December 25

COLONIAL—"THE LATE GEORGE APLEY," the stage version by George S. Kaufman and John P. Marquand of Marquand's Boston novel will return here after more than a year in New York with Leo G. Carroll, Janet Beecher, Percy Waram, Margaret Dale and the rest of the original cast.

OPERA HOUSE — "THE DESERT SONG," with the Metropolitan Opera's Walter Cassell and Dorothy Sandlin co-starred in the robustly melodious operetta, comes here direct from a sensationally successful Chicago engagement. The book and lyrics are by Frank Mandel, Oscar Hammerstein II and Otto Harbach. Sigmund Romberg is responsible for the lovely lyrics.

PLYMOUTH "THE VOICE OF THE TURTLE," John van Druten's long-run comedy, in a return engagement with Louise Horton and Harvey Stephens in the roles originally created by Margaret Sullavan and Elliott Nugent for the Boston previewed Broadway production.

WILBUR—"BORN YESTERDAY," Capt. Garson Kanin's new comedy, returns Joan Arthur to the stage after some years' absence in the starring role of the Max Gordon production.

December 31

COPLEY "SONG OF BERNADETTE," a Frank McCoy production.

January 7

WILBUR — "YOU TWINKLE ONLY ONCE," a new play by Aben Kandel starring Gladys George. Directed by Samuel Wolfenden Meisner. Setting by Albert Johnson. Fallen classic.

January 14

COLONIAL—"MEDEA," with Judith Anderson as the psychological sorceress, who murdered her own children to take vengeance on her husband Jason of the Golden Fleece legend. The Theater Guild is producing this adaptation of the Euripides classic.

Orchids to Louis Loeb: Lawyer With Conscience

By AUSTEN LAKE

THIS IS A VERBAL ORCHID to a Boston lawyer named Louis Loeb! I am citing him for Good Citizenship in a post-war era when selfish interest is riding behind the hounds of avarice and when forgetfulness toward servicemen is closing down like a cold, damp fog.

Austen Lake

Louis won't like this! He's a diffident, almost shy man. But he stands as a shining candlelight of conscience in a troubled world. So I'm risking his displeasure by revealing how he has sacrificed his private practice, time, legal talents and energies to help distraught service folk.

Strange thing! Although this writer has had copious dealings with Louis Loeb by telephone and postoffice during the last five months, I had never met the gentleman personally until a few days ago when I made a small oration to the local lodge of Knights of Pythias. He was there.

OUR REMOTE RELATIONSHIP BEGAN late last June when I printed a column telling the distress of a service wife with six children who was being given the heave-o from her Chelsea tenement. That impass was solved promptly by swift and kindly action of several Chelsea citizens, who represent the solid, sterling core of Americanism.

Next day my telephone jangled and the voice on the other end said simply, "My name is Loeb, Louis G., lawyer. I have all the private practice I can handle. But I want to do something for service families in trouble. If you have any more like that Chelsea case, send 'em to me. I'll take them free of charge."

That was the beginning! I know that the score or more of such cases that I sent him forced Loeb to burn the midnight oil to keep abreast of his personal business, which is pretty extensive But he never quibbled or retracted! I've never called him with a new case when I thought it merited action, that he didn't chirp cheerfully, "Sure send 'em over." He had to sandwich them in between appearances in court and a mass of office detail. But he always did! And his brief letters announcing each new victory were appended with postscripts, like this last one, dated Nov. 29:

"Score another goal. Mrs. McComiskey of Revere was in court with me today. The court graciously found in our favor and the lady remains a tenant." Then as a corollary, "Don't hesitate to send anybody whose case you consider just." So I did! And occasionally, through mischance, I've handed him a few "hot-potatoes." But he always went through! And I suppose I'm playing him a sorry trick now by tearing aside the cloak of his anonymity. But it's truth and I'll pay the consequences!

The following list of Loeb's good works is only a skeleton outline, culled from my own records. These are merely a handful from the score of more he has resolved —few of which were reported in this pillar. It's a feeble synopsis but the best I can muster at the moment:

MRS. MARY CAPONE, East Boston—Mother of three small children. Under constant medical care and needing a serious operation. Husband's service allotment delayed through error in application. Facing eviction for non-payment of rent.

Disposition — Loeb persuaded landlord to withdraw action. He obtained emergency allowance from Boston Veterans' Administration and arranged with Masonic Welfare to send eldest child, suffering from malnutrition to summer camp for a month; obtained suitable clothing.

MRS. VIRGINIA THERRIAN, Boston—Widow with two sons in service. Ejection order already issued.

Disposition—Loeb induced landlord to extend time limit until suitable apartment could be found. Eventually she was re-settled satisfactorily.

MRS. ALICE MUNROE, Cambridge—Daughter and wife of service men. Lived with mother and her three small children. Landlord obtained eviction order.

Disposition—Loeb obtained new hearing in court with two-month extension of time, during which he found suitable apartment.

MRS. JOSEPH SMYTH, Chelsea —Three sons in Army, two sons-in-law in Navy. Eviction already in effect.

Disposition — Re-extension of time until tenant could find an apartment, which she did.

MRS. ANNE THOMPSON, Cambridge—Husband in Navy. Final ejection order issued.

Disposition—Extension of time until she found an apartment.

MRS MARY McCOMISKEY—Husband in service. Rent due Nov. 1 but husband's allotment check delayed 'til No. 2. Landlord applied for eviction on non-payment.

Disposition—Case tried in Chelsea Municipal Court which found in her favor. No eviction.

WILLIAM MORRIS, Boston — Merchant Marine veteran. Both legs and four fingers of left hand amputated. Right hand paralyzed. Late with rent due to injury by falling down stairs while visiting mother in Canada. Landlord gave ejection notice Disposition—Landlord persuaded to reconsider. Allowed Morris to stay.

I repeat! These are only a brief outline of the work Louis Loeb did: His total count is over twenty, most of them coming to him in twelfth hour of desperation. And the salutory effect has been amplified many times. For, where the writer formerly received eviction-appeals averaging three and four a week, it is a long time since any service woman has supplicated help from tenancy trouble.

I submit that Louis Loeb, by his unselfish diligence has accomplished much. Good citizen he!

Coaches' Board Names Great 'All' Grid Team

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Can you go back a few years before the war in the musical world to the time when the Butcher Boy was everybody's darling? The kids were humming his praises long before they ever realized the truth of it all when meat-rationing revived all the silly sentiments of the catchy ditty.

This past football season it was the coaches, in particular, and the fans everywhere who were singing the praises of Revere High School's Butcher Boy, fullback and Captain Jerry Sarno.

Capt. Sarno, a quiet-spoken, 175-pound six-footer, today is named the leader of the Boston Evening American's Official All-Scholastic football team. He paced an inexperienced Beach City outfit to a successful campaign and at the same time, he won top honors with everybody who had seen him in action as the outstanding ball carrier of the season. There wasn't a coach who had watched Sarno lug the leather who wouldn't have traded a pound of sugar for the sparkling fullback.

At least, that was the opinion of the Board of Coaches who picked this team. They paid little heed to the fact that Sarno had scored 64 points this fall through 10 touchdowns and four conversions. They weren't interested in the fact that he had three touchdowns recalled. Nor did they care that Sarno was a better than average passer and a handy man to have around for the kicking off.

They just knew that here was a great college prospect who will probably (if his wishes come true) continue his engineering courses at Cornell. And he should be a valuable addition to any school. He has earned his letter in basketball (as captain last season) and he's the type of kid who will work for an ambition. He gave up other sports to become a Butcher Boy in his spare time in his father's store.

Capt. Sarno is, by no means, a newcomer to the schoolboy grid ranks. He was a freshman on the squad when his brother, Joe, was first string end on Revere's best team. As a junior, he lived up to the hopes Coach George Kenneally held for him. This past fall, he proved to be a captain in every sense of the word.

At the final meeting of the Board of Coaches, there was little doubt that Sarno would be an outstanding contender for a place in the all-star backfield. He was nominated by Coach Mark Devlin of Lawrence High as the "one back in particular I'd like to have on my team, or on any team that wasn't on my schedule."

When the casting of ballots was completed, Sarno had polled a total of eight of the 11 votes for first place in the backfield. And when coaches like Dennie Gildea, Everett; Bill Broderick, Salem, and Devlin go all out for a youngster, he must have what it takes to make a football team move.

They're just three of the coaches who participated in the selection of this official eleven. Other members included Glen O'Brien, Salem; Harry Downes, Brookline; Kenneally; Dave Gavin, Melrose; Henry Toczylowski, Arlington; Ed "Skip" Sherlock, Hyde Park; Bill Cronin, Hingham, and Bill Ohrenberger of the Boston school department. They're a group who have worked with the schoolboys all fall. They should know the best in the ranks.

Everett, it seemed, just couldn't miss placing two players on the team after its sensational climb to the state championship. A Crimson Tide boy figured in practically all the voting but two, co-capt. Bill Vesprini, center, and Dom Liotta, guard, attained first string rating. The pair couldn't miss on any All outfit after their outstanding play—Vesprini backing up the line and Liotta leading the fast-charging frontier.

Liotta is the fellow in the Everett line-up who wore the "Sinkwich helmet." It acted as protection against a weakened jaw, the result of a break a year ago in practice.

Co-capt. Bob Jacovitz of Lynn English, as the outstanding lineman on the North Shore, was a cinch for the other guard, English's captain was the mainstay of one of the best defensive lines in the state, leading a team that splattered the hopes of two defending champions this fall, Peabody in Class A and Saugus in B. He proved every bit as fiery a ball player as his coach, Nick Morris.

The Murphys nearly caused investigation for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law for their monopoly of the tackles. Captains Alden and Bob, of Melrose and Boston English respectively, had to contend with Medford's Jackie for top places. The recounts, demanded, finally determined the Melrose Alden and Boston Bob as the tackles with Medford Johnnie just half a notch behind.

Bob Murphy lost some ground because of the fact that he had missed three games in the schedule. But he missed them for a worthy cause. He left school last May to join the U. S. Navy Air

Blanchard, Davis Gave Army Double Threat

By JACK CONWAY

IT IS SELDOM that two great college backs have played as consistently as did Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard who contributed so much to Army's 32 to 13 victory over Navy at Philadelphia. Davis and Blanchard have been at the peak of their form in each of their major tests this season. I do not believe anyone who has seen this mighty pair of backfield stars in action will deny their right to be named for the mythical All-America team.

Davis and Blanchard each is 20 years of age. They are fine physical specimens and have been able to take a great deal of hammering in games without losing any of their effectiveness.

Glenn Davis

Standing six feet in height and weighing 205 pounds Blanchard is one of the fastest big men in college football. Unlike so many 200-pounders, he does not run on a straight line. He can dodge and sidestep and has an excellent change of pace.

Davis is five feet nine inches and only weighs 170 pounds. This weight accounts for his amazing speed when he takes the ball around one of the ends, or cuts past tackle. Once in the clear there are few college players who have much of a chance of catching up with Davis.

Col. Earl Blaik built his attack around Blanchard and Davis. Blanchard was used on power plays, especially when only a few yards were needed to make a first down. Davis was the threat on open field plays.

While Blanchard's specialty was power plays, he also proved adept when sent round one of the ends, while he always had a chance of intercepting any forward passes that was tossed near him.

With most opponents watching Blanchard and Davis, it was possible for Tucker to make many gains by using the quarterback sneak. Tucker is 21 years old, weighs 175 pounds and is five feet nine inches tall. Like Davis, he is very fast.

★ ★ ★

Green Great Guard

WITH BLANCHARD and Davis getting so many headlines, the fine work at guard of Capt. John F. Green of the Army has been overlooked. Green never played a better game than he did against the Navy. He crashed through and smeared many plays before they got started. He was a tower of strength on the defense.

The other members of the Army line also conducted themselves well. Any time you see a backfield functioning as perfectly as Army's you may be sure that it has the support of a great line. The backs were able to get their plays well underway before being asked to combat enemy linesmen or the secondary defense.

★ ★ ★

Gamblers Lose Heavily

PROFESSIONAL GAMBLERS who have made a speciality of betting on college football games, lost heavily when Army failed to beat Navy by the expected 27 points. The gamblers underrated Navy. They felt Army was likely to win from 30 to 40 points. Navy men backed their club on the 27 point basis and they were in a jubilant mood after the game.

The game went on to prove that when a club possesses its share of stars and it has everything to gain and very little to lose that it is particularly dangerous.

The Middies played with a daring and brilliance that won the applause of the 102,000 persons at the game. Bartos plunged through the Army line for many long gains. Smith tossed passes to Scott with deadly effect, while Minisi raced around the ends and off the tackles in Davis style.

The Navy line was badly ripped by Blanchard and Davis in the opening period, but it rallied and did better during the last two periods.

The Army and Navy put on their greatest football show. The marching of the Cadets and the Middies is always colorful. The presence fo President Truman and so many high ranking Army, Navy and government officials at the game gave the affair the glitter it missed during the war.

All recognized the importance of football and the part the game plays in the lives of American youngsters.

Moore 133, Faces $300 Bond Loss

Tommy Moore of South Boston faced the loss of a $300 bond which stipulated that he must weigh 130 or less for his fight with Timothy "Buddy" Hayes at Mechanics Building tonight.

Moore tipped the scales at 133 when he weighed in and was immediately sent to a gym to try to take off the necessary three pounds. If he fails to get down to 130 he will lose the $300.

Hayes was 126½ when weighed before the commission this afternoon.

This is a 10-round return bout, by popular demand, between the bitter rivals from each end of the Broadway bridge. South Boston will be represented by large numbers, headed by Joe "Hambone" Kelly, who has been helping Moore with his training, and Knocko McCormack.

Miami H.C. Bowl Foe

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 3 (INS)—The University of Miami football team was named today as the New Year's Day opponent for Holy Cross in the Orange Bowl.

The scrappy Miami eleven lost but one game this year, when Georgia's Bulldogs defeated them, 27 to 21, early in the season. Their season record shows eight victories and one tie. They were tied by South Carolina.

Miami defeated Chattanooga, St. Louis University, Florida, Miami (of Ohio), Clemson, North Carolina State, Michigan State and Auburn. They downed the Auburn Tigers, 33 to 7, Friday night.

The Hurricances have piled up 165 points this year and have held their opponents to 83.

The chief offensive weapon of the Miami squad is a triple-threat halfback named Harry Ghaul, who is expected to provide the color that bowl committees demand.

The team has been coached this season by Eddie Dunn.

Bibeault at Peak: What's His Future?

By BILL GRIMES

After all N. H. L. games played in Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, Elmer Ferguson, sports editor of the Montreal Herald, awards "stars" to the three players he considers outstanding.

In the merit award custom was in vogue at the Boston Garden last night, Paul Bibeault would have been entitled to all three "stars." He was sensational and but for his presence the Bruins would have been beaten by an exceptionally wide margin by the Red Wings, instead of getting a 2-2 draw.

In the four games the Bruins have played during this home stay, Bibeault's goal tending has been comparable to the top performances of Tiny Thompson and Frankie Brimsek.

Two years ago, Les Canadiens sidetracked Bibeault for Bill Durnam, who although nearing the 30-year-old mark, had spent his entire career in the so-called amateur ranks.

Bibeault was loaned to the Toronto Maple Leafs, who were so impressed as to offer $15,000 for him. After refusing the Toronto offer, Les Canadiens loaned Bibeault to Boston, until Frankie Brimsek was discharged from the U. S. Coast Guard.

When Brimsek reported, the Bruins had played 500 hockey, three wins, three loses and a draw.

During the Bruins' first seven games this season, Bilbeault's goals-against average was 3.86 per game.

But, with Brimsek sitting in the press box or behind the Boston bench watching him, Bibeault kicked aside enough shot to shut out the Flying Frenchmen, 3 to 0, beat Toronto and Rangers and tie the Red Wings. In the last four games, Bibeault's goal against average was 1.75, an improvement of 2.11 over his early season mark.

There was far too much holding, tripping and mistakes made by both clubs last night for the game to be rated as a standout tilt. It was a hard fought affair and a tough one for the officials to handle.

There isn't any question but that the Red Wings had the edge in the shots on goal department for Bibeault had 32 saves to Harry Lumley's 19. But, the two Detroit goals were on screen shots, which Bibeault never had a chance even to see, let alone stop.

The Bruins are now only one point in arrears of Chicago and Detroit, who are deadlocked in second place. And, equally as important, the Rossmen have two games in hand on Canadiens and Chicago and one on Detroit, not to mention four on Toronto and three on Rangers.

Bulla, Hogan Fly Golf Pros' Plane

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 3 (AP)—Led by Ben Hogan, winner of the $10,000 Orlando open with a 72-hole score of 270, the vanguard of a sparkling field of pro golfers flew into Miami by special plane today to tune up for the Miami $10,000 open, which starts Tursday.

With Hogan as co-pilot and Johnny Bulla as pilot, the group flew from Orlando in one hour and 25 minutes aboard "The Golfer," a DC-3 which will be used to ferry the shotmakers around the winter circuit.

The party included Sam Byrd, Jimmy Thompson, Vic Ghezzi, Harry Todd, Les Kennedy, Barney Clark, Dale Morey, Al Zimmerman, Bud Williamson, Orville White, Clarence Doser, Art Doering and Fred Corcoran, P. G. A. tournament chairman.

TROPHY FOR BLANCHARD

Forces, was declared too tall (6.2 inches) so he went back to school. He wasn't eligible until the first release of marks but he played every minute of every game after that. He was the kid who blocked the kick in Harvard Stadium last fall to defeat Latin (13-8. Remember?)

The ultimate in schoolboy ends was Brockton's Vin Kaseta, playing on a team that won 10 straight decisions in an uphill fight that fell short of the state championship. Kaseta, another Don Hutson on offense, chalked up a touchdown for every game he played while more than holding his own on defense.

A mere thimbleful tipped the scales in favor of Lawrence's John Walker for the other wing with Ralph Loveys, Melrose, eliminated because of the fact he still has another season in football. Frank Lionette of Everett, Stan Britton of Lynn Classical, Ed Garvin of Natick and Jim White of Melrose were very much in the running until the very end. Walker has been a regular for three years, scored four touchdowns and was one of the most consistent performers all season.

In the backfield, Hal Moffie of Brookline will lift the load for Harvard's Dick Harlow in a few years. An exceptionally long punter, Moffie is tremendous beyond the line of scrimmage with plenty of power to drive through his opening. He clinched his spot by reeling off 156 yards against Newton on a sloppy gridiron when he was billed primarily as a scatback.

George Faulkner and Don Misosky can best be described by the comparisons coaches have made with the two this season. Faulkner, of Arlington, was acclaimed as "a better passer than Charlie O'Rourke" in high school ranks. Miosky, of Lynn Classical, was deemed "further advanced in football than Boley Dancewicz" when the Notre Dame star was playing for Bill Joyce.

And neither O'Rourke nor Dancewicz were slouches on that ball field.

There'll be a dinner for the eleven first stringers, to be announced later. They'll receive sports jackets from the James W. Brine's Sporting Goods Co., and gold, engraved football charms. And they'll also meet the coaches who selected them as the Official team for 1945.
